Probe Sought On $2,500 'Gift' In Gas Bill Debate

Police Investigate Two Break-ins Here

Police today were looking for someone — or perhaps several — who broke into the office of the superintendent of the Washington C. H. schools Sunday night and the Shell Oil Co. service station on South Fayette Street Saturday night.

Officers were admittedly in somewhat of a quandry over several angles.

For one thing, they were uncertain whether the break-ins were by adults bent on burglary or youths with a vandalism motive.

But, since nothing of any considerable value was missed and there was very little damage or breakage, except for the entrance, police came to the conclusion that it was about a pointless performance as they had come across in a long time.

However, they were not without clues. But how valuable they are still will not be known until the investigation has progressed further.

In breaking into the office of Supt. W. A. Smith, the glass in an outside door of the Central Elementary School wing of the high school was smashed so an arm could be put through the hole to open the door. That door opens into a court beside the vocational agriculture department.

Once inside the building, a small pane of wire-glass in the door

FBI Already Checking Deal Bared By Case

Nebraska Attorney Says He Made Offer, But Denies Bribery Involved

WASHINGTON — Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas asked the Senate today to order an investigation of a proffered $2,500 campaign contribution to Sen. Francis Case (R-SD). Case has described it as an effort to influence his vote on the natural gas bill.

Johnson proposed that a committee of two Republicans and two Democrats be created to go into the matter. It would be required to report by March 1.

Case told the Senate about the offer of a campaign contribution last week, but did not say who offered it.

In Lexington, Neb., John M. Neff, an attorney, said today he assumed he was the man mentioned by Case as having left $2,500 dollar bills with Case's campaign treasurer in South Dakota.

Neff denied the money was intended to influence Case's vote on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from federal regulation.

Sen. Hruska (R-Neb) said Neff twice had approached him and asked him to vote for the bill. He said:

"HE TALKED to me briefly in Omaha and Washington in the interests of the gas bill."

Sen. Schepke (R-Kans.), a gas bill supporter, said Neff's statement that there were no strings attached to the proposed campaign contributions made it seem to him a matter for the FBI, rather than Senate, to investigate.

The FBI already has moved into the matter to determine whether there has been any violation of law. Its agents have interviewed Case, who presumably gave them Neff's name.

Neff declined to tell newsmen whether he had any connection with natural gas interests.

But Neff fired a telegram to Case protesting what he called the implications of the way Case had brought the matter up in the Senate. The telegram said:

"It was incensed to learn that you mentioned this matter on the Senate floor without divulging the name and with implication and inference that it was some kind of a shady deal."

Johnson's proposal for a special investigating committee was supported by Sen. Bridges (NH), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Johnson, a supporter of the bill, is confident it would pass.

"I believe the majority of senators favor the passage of this bill and I don't believe they will be intimidated by the tactics employed," he said.

BRIDGES SAID he thought the blowup over the offer to Case might have changed some votes both ways, but that the bill still would pass.

Backers and opponents disagree sharply over whether enactment of the bill would result in higher gas prices to householders.

Both sides predicted the vote would be close. The consensus seemed to be that the bill would pass by a narrow margin. An almost identical one was approved by the House last year 209-203.

Backers of the bill contend that without it, gas exploration will be discouraged and eventually the fuel will become scarcer and prices will rise.

Sen. Case has said he originally intended to vote for the bill, but has changed his mind because of what he termed the effort to influence his vote.

Weekend Highway Deaths Total 13

COLUMBUS — Heavy winter traffic death tolls continued unabated in Ohio as at least 13 persons were killed on state roads over the weekend.

But the usual list of additional deaths by fire and other miscellaneous accidental causes was blank for the first weekend of February.

The highway death tally covers the period 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight.

Solons Disagree Veto Ahead On Omnibus Farmer Aid Bill

WASHINGTON — Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today Congress will invite a presidential veto if it votes to reinstate higher, rigid farm price supports along with a new billion-dollar soil bank plan.

"Although I've not talked this over with President Eisenhower, I'm pretty certain he would not agree to take this backward step," said Aiken, senior Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

But Chairman Ellender (D-La.) said the bill also contains most of the things Eisenhower has asked for farmers, and added, "I don't think the President would veto it."

The committee voted 8-7 Saturday night to return to mandatory 90 per cent of parity support for major crops. Present supports, approved in 1954, range from 75 to 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a price determined by farm law as fair to farmers on the basis of the cost of things they buy.

At the same time the group accepted the new soil bank program asked by Eisenhower and Secretary Benson.

This aims at reducing the multi-billion-dollar farm surpluses now in government hands by offering cooperating farmers special payments to reduce their planting of wheat, corn, cotton, rice and cigar binder tobacco for the next four years.

The close committee decision on price supports, like others made Saturday, is subject to a final committee vote Thursday after farm leaders get a final chance to go over the omnibus bill.

In 1954 the Senate reversed a similar 8-7 committee vote for rigid supports and approved the flexible farm supports now in operation.

Sen. Clements (Ky.), assistant Democratic Senate floor leader, offered the rigid price support amendment.

It was supported by five Democrats.

Lima Westinghouse Feud Awaiting Hearing In Court

LIMA — Officials of the struck Westinghouse plant here were expected today to ask for a court order limiting picketing following an appeal for such an order from Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Company attorneys indicated they would start the court action this afternoon. The situation at the plant this morning was reported for the most part quiet, with between 100 and 150 pickets on duty.

An attempt was made to overturn one automobile, but most cars of workers returning to their jobs were permitted to enter the plant.

The governor in Columbus last night promised "extraordinary action" on his part, if necessary, to "ensure that those citizens of our country who take to work will be enabled to do so."

Lausche did not amplify what he meant by "extraordinary action." He did state he will "use every power of the state" to carry through his assurance.

THIS LED TO the belief he would bring additional enforcement to Lima, such as National Guard troops, if a repeat performance of Saturday's mass demonstration by 700 strikers at the Westinghouse plant were to occur.

The demonstration, in which six men were injured and several cars were damaged, was broken up by law officers.

Meanwhile, leaders of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers gathered in Pittsburgh to decide whether to drop temporarily from their contract negotiations with Westinghouse an SACRAMENTO, Calif. — An apprentice embalmer faces charges today of following a 7-year-old boy to a movie theater restroom and stabbing him to death.

He is Thomas Lynn Johnston, 24, whom police Capt. Michael Straz quoted as saying he jabbed a pocket knife blade into the throat of Ronald Wendorf "just to see what he would do."

The boy, son of truck driver Eugene Wendorf, had gone to a triple bill matinee Sunday with two brothers, Billy, 10, and Bobby, 8,

Also approved in the omnibus measure were:

1. A special $250 million fund to be used in bolstering prices in pork, beef and other perishable farm products not eligible under regular price support programs.

2. A trial of a two-price plan on rice under which cooperating growers would get a special payment on that part of their crop used for domestic food, with the remainder selling at world market prices.

3. A $2½ billion "national security reserve" of wheat, corn and cotton that could be used only in time of war or special emergency. It would replace a similar "set aside" under which the crop surpluses could be disposed of gradually. The idea is to prevent price-depressing effects of the surpluses.

Mrs. Johnson Seeks To Run For Recorder

Mrs. Eloise Johnson, county recorder, will seek the Republican nomination for a second term in the office, she announced today.

She expects to file her nominating petitions Monday afternoon, she said.

Mrs. Eloise Johnson

Mrs. Johnson succeeded her father, the late Frank E. White, as recorder. During her father's four terms in the office, she worked under him as deputy recorder.

In 1955, she served as secretary of the State Records' Association and was again selected for the honor this year. The association's members are drawn from all over the state.

Mrs. Johnson is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Bloomington chapter of the Eastern Star and the Bloomington Presbyterian Church.

She is a native of Bloomington and has lived there all her life. Mrs. Johnson has two sons, both in the Army. They are Pfc. Hugh Keith Johnson and Pfc. David R. Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson's friendly, helpful ways have made her years of service in the Court House — first as deputy recorder and recently as recorder — useful to all who enter her office.

Salesman Admits Attacks Made In 9 Different States

DALLAS — A door-to-door salesman, who police quote as saying he is wanted in Gallipolis, Ohio, was being held here today after officers said he admitted raping 14 women in nine states.

Police Capt. Will Fritz said last night the 29-year-old salesman told him the attacks took place in Ohio, Texas, New Mexico, Illinois, Missouri, California, Arizona, Minnesota and Louisiana.

No charges have been filed against the man.

"I usually picked out older women as most all of them did not report it to police," apt. Fritz quoted the man.

"I always watched the newspapers and in only two or three of the places was the attack reported," Fritz quoted him.

PORTLAND, England — The British submarine Scorchers surfaced off Portland and saw a big freighter smack in its path.

Soviets Rap U. S. Use Of Huge Balloons

Giant Plastic Spheres Said Carrying Radios. Cameras Over Red Land

MOSCOW — Russia claims that U. S. military forces are dispatching fleets of huge balloons carrying automatic cameras and radio equipment over Soviet territory from West Germany and other border nations.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman indicated the Russians apparently were objecting to high-altitude weather balloons the U. S. Air Force announced last month it would send up in Europe.

The Air Force's European headquarters had no comment today on the Russian protest, terming it "a State Department affair."

The U. S. Air Force prior to this year had used its huge "Moby Dick" weather balloons only in the United States. Its January announcement said the program was being expanded to other areas in the Northern Hemisphere, including Europe, Alaska and Hawaii.

The giant plastic balloons carry weather instruments, cameras and equipment registering cosmic rays and other data which is radioed automatically to ground stations.

THE AIR FORCE said such information would be of great use in the 1957-58 Geophysical Year. There two score nations including Russia will join in gathering information about weather, terrestrial magnetism, earthquakes and other data.

A Soviet note published by the official news agency Tass demanded that the United States immediately stop such activity. It said the balloons menace aircraft.

It demanded a halt also to propaganda-carrying balloons by private U. S. organizations.

Tass said the Soviet protest was handed to U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen by Deputy Foreign (Please turn to page two)

$100,000 TV Prize Won By Youngster, 14

NEW YORK — George L. Wright III, who won $100,000 in television's biggest quiz prize Saturday night, planned to leave St. Agnes High School a little early today for a business conference at the Chase Manhattan Bank.

There he and his lawyer, together with producers of The Big Surprise TV show, will discuss terms of the trust fund to be set up with George's TV winnings.

The government will get the biggest slice of the $100,000. Federal and state income taxes are expected to whittle George's net winnings down to about $25,000.

The freckle-faced 14-year-old youngster also has other decisions to make besides how to handle his money. Since winning the prize, and even before, he has been sought by television, movies and recording companies.

George, who says he was able to answer the quiz show questions mainly because "my dad and mom are awfully smart," had three tries for the top prize.

He missed the first time but got another chance the following week when a "rescuer" in the audience knew the answer to another question and thereby reinstated him.

He got a third chance last Saturday because a question that he missed the week before was judged to have been unfair. He finally won the $100,000 by correctly identifying a song as "Me and My Shadow" and singing it.

Harry Allen Seeks Election As Auditor

Harry R. Allen, who was appointed Fayette County auditor by the county commissioners last Nov. 29 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Auditor Ulric Acton, is going to seek election to the office to fill out the unexpired term of his predecessor.

Under the law, Allen's appointment was to run only until the next election next November; then an auditor must be elected for the remainder of the regular term, which won't expire until March of 1959.

Allen's first step now is to seek the Republican nomination at the May primary. It is understood that he will have opposition, but there have been no formal announcements of other candidates for the nomination.

When Allen was appointed auditor by the commissioners, he had the unanimous endorsement of the county's Republican Executive Committee.

ALLEN is a native Fayette Countyman, born on the farm at the edge of Octa where he still lives.

He was graduated from Washington C. H. High School in 1921 and from Wilmington College in 1927 with a bachelor of science degree.

Armed with his high school and college degrees, he started his career as a school teacher in the elementary schools of Fayette County. Later he went to Hocking County where he taught a business arithmetic and science class in the high school. From Hocking County he went to Madison County where he taught the same subjects in high school there.

He came back to his home county in 1931 to teach at Milledgeville (Please turn to page two)

Many Ohio Roads Found Hazardous

COLUMBUS — Freezing rain over a good portion of the state today made highway travel hazardous and caused some schools to close.

City schools of Bryan, Wauseon, Defiance, Napoleon and Paulding, and all village and rural schools in Williams, Fulton, Defiance, Paulding and Henry counties were reported closed because of ice-covered highways.

The state highway department said highways were slippery due to freezing rain in the vicinity of Defiance, Findlay, Upper Sandusky and Lima. Some scattered slippery spots were reported in the vicinity of Zanesville, Lorain, Medina, Wooster, Mount Gilead and Marysville.

LOS ANGELES — Burglars stole 60 neckties, two coats and a violin from comedian Ed Wynn's home last night. He said the items are worth $750.

Ed Wynn, 48, said he was awakened last night by a noise in his bedroom. He got up and found his door open. He went in and found his room empty.

Wynn said he was alone in his home last night. He said he was asleep when the burglars entered.

Solons Disagree Veto Ahead On Omnibus Farmer Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today Congress will invite a presidential veto if it votes to reinstate higher, rigid farm price supports along with a new billion-dollar soil bank plan.

Hunt Readied For GIs Lost At South Pole

ANTARCTICA (AP) — The command of Operation Deep Freeze hoped today for clear weather to throw all available aircraft into a search for a Navy plane missing with seven men aboard.

Two ground search parties crossed the ice Sunday between the Little America V base and a trail post 400 miles eastward from which the missing craft took off. But they found no trace of the missing men.

The plane, a De Havilland Otter, was flying Friday from Marie Byrd Land to Little America with some members of a trailblazing party whose vehicles had broken down. It made its last voice radio contact 67 minutes after take off. An SOS signal believed from the plane was heard Saturday.

Bad weather hampered an air survey. Twice an Otter has attempted to reach the area where the Otter was believed down, but both times it was forced to turn back halfway between McMurdo Sound and Little America.

Rear Adm. George Dufek, commander of Task Force 43 aboard the icebreaker Eastwind, indicated he was prepared to enlist all available planes as soon as weather conditions permitted.

Probe Sought On $2,500 'Gift' In Gas Bill Debate

Police Investigate Two Break-ins Here

Police today were looking for someone — or perhaps several — who broke into the office of the superintendent of the Washington C. H. schools Sunday night and the Shell Oil Co. service station on South Fayette Street Saturday night.

Officers were admittedly in somewhat of a quandry over several angles.

For one thing, they were uncertain whether the break-ins were by adults bent on burglary or youths with a vandalism motive.

But, since nothing of any considerable value was missed and there was very little damage or breakage, except for the entrance, police came to the conclusion that it was about a pointless performance as they had come across in a long time.

However, they were not without clues. But how valuable they are still will not be known until the investigation has progressed further.

In breaking into the office of Supt. W. A. Smith, the glass in an outside door of the Central Elementary School wing of the high school was smashed so an arm could be put through the hole to open the door. That door opens into a court beside the vocational agriculture department.

Once inside the building, a small pane of wire-glass in the door into the main corridor was broken out. But, since that door could not be opened with a spring lock catch, it was necessary for the intruder to squeeze through the rectangular opening only 14 by 16 inches.

To get into the superintendent's office, the glass in the outer door was smashed. Inside the office, nothing had been very much disturbed and nothing of value has

FBI Already Checking Deal Bared By Case

Nebraska Attorney Says He Made Offer, But Denies Bribery Involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas asked the Senate today to order an investigation of a proffered $2,500 campaign contribution to Sen. Francis Case (R-SD). Case has described it as an effort to influence his vote on the natural gas bill.

Johnson proposed that a committee of two Republicans and two Democrats be created to go into the matter. It would be required to report by March 1.

Case told the Senate about the offer of a campaign contribution last week, but did not say who offered it.

In Lexington, Neb., John M. Neff, an attorney, said today he assumed he was the man mentioned by Case as having left $2,500 dollar bills with Case's campaign treasurer in South Dakota.

Neff denied the money was intended to influence Case's vote on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from federal regulation.

Sen. Hruska (R-Neb.) said Neff twice had approached him and asked him to vote for the bill. He said:

"HE TALKED to me briefly in Omaha and Washington in the interests of the gas bill."

Sen. Schoepel (R-Kans.), a gas bill supporter, said Neff's statement that there were no strings attached to the proposed campaign contributions made it seem to him a matter for the FBI rather than Senate, to investigate.

The FBI already has moved into the matter to determine whether there has been any violation of law. Its agents have interviewed Case, who presumably gave them Neff's name.

Neff declined to tell newsmen whether he had any connection with natural gas interests.

But Neff fired a telegram to Case protesting what he called the implications of the way Case had brought the matter up in the Senate. The telegram said:

"I was incensed to learn that you mentioned this matter on the Senate floor without divulging the name and with implication and inference that it was some kind of a shady deal."

Johnson's proposal for a special investigating committee was supported by Sen. Bridges (NH), chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Johnson, a supporter of the bill, is confident it would pass.

"I believe the majority of senators favor the passage of this bill and I don't believe they will be intimidated by the tactics employed," he said.

BRIDGES SAID he thought the blowup over the offer to Case might have changed some votes both ways, but that the bill still would pass.

Backers and opponents disagree sharply over whether enactment of the bill would result in higher gas prices to householders.

Both sides predicted the vote would be close. The consensus seemed to be that the bill would pass by a narrow margin. An almost identical one was approved by the House last year 209-203.

Backers of the bill contend that without it, gas exploration will be discouraged and eventually the fuel will become scarcer and prices will rise.

Sen. Case has said he originally intended to vote for the bill, but has changed his mind because of what he termed the effort to influence his vote.

Weekend Highway Deaths Total 13

COLUMBUS (AP) — Heavy winter traffic death tolls continued unabated in Ohio as at least 13 persons were killed on state roads over the weekend.

But the usual list of additional deaths by fire and other miscellaneous accidental causes was blank for the first weekend of February.

The highway death tally covers the period 6 p. m. Friday to last midnight.

Blizzard Eases After 23 Die In Southwest

Storm Said Heading Northeast; Bus Driver Acclaimed For Heroics

(By The Associated Press)

The worst appeared over in the five-day blizzard that paralyzed Texas and New Mexico and claimed at least 23 lives.

The storm subsided Sunday night as winds lessened and the snowfall began diminishing. The U. S. Weather Bureau in Chicago said today that the storm front, or what remained of it, seemed to be headed northeast.

The Texas-New Mexico area "should have a respite" from the storm with above-freezing temperatures bringing about a general thawing-out, the bureau said.

The storm, ranked by Texans as the worst in 50 years and tabbed as the worst ever by New Mexico citizens, made most roads impassable and caused the closing of several schools. Classes in Plainview, Amarillo, and Lubbock were canceled today as the three Texas cities pushed cleanup efforts.

Elsewhere in the nation, fair weather prevailed today except for an area of precipitation stretching from Kansas through the Ohio Valley and to the Gulf and Atlantic coasts.

LIGHT SNOW fell in Kansas, Nevada and Utah.

Out of the Southwest came a story of heroism. The howling blizzard heaped waist-high drifts of snow and sent temperatures plunging to 10 below. Through it bus driver John Herron, 38, struggled

6 Prizes Collected By Alley Cat

MEMPHIS (AP)—Georgette, an alley cat whose name used to be George before she had kittens, did herself and her "owners" proud Sunday.

She stole the spotlight from a mess of orange-eyed white Persians, Abyssinians, Burmese, tailless Manx and other exotic entries at the Memphis and Mid-South Cat Fanciers' Championship Show.

Although expecting a new batch of kittens any minute, Georgette breezed through the show unfazed, emerging with six ribbons.

She was proclaimed best of color, all breeds; best of color, short hair specialty; and won two first prize championships and two winners championships in the "working cat" division.

In the maze test, Georgette worked her way around five baffle boards to get four mice in a cage in a minute and 48 seconds.

She had a big advantage over other "working" cats. Accustomed to the roar of the presses at her place of employment, the Memphis Publishing Co., the crowd at the show bothered her not a whit.

It's Georgette's job to catch mice and rats at the publishing plant. She was back at work today.

Officers Sop Up Moonshine Evidence

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Esther Graham, 32, of Raleigh, poured untaxed whisky down a sink when police raided her place.

Not to be outdone, the officers grabbed rags and soaked up the liquor for evidence and squeezed it into a glass. The woman was charged with possession of non-tax paid liquor for purpose of sale.

Mrs. Johnson Seeks To Run For Recorder

Mrs. Eloise Johnson, county recorder, will seek the Republican nomination for a second term in the office, she announced today.

She expects to file her nominating petitions Monday afternoon, she said.

Mrs. Eloise Johnson

Mrs. Johnson succeeded her father, the late Frank E. White, as recorder. During her father's four terms in the office, she worked under him as deputy recorder.

In 1955, she served as secretary of the state Recorders' Association and was again selected for the honor this year. The association's members are drawn from all over the state.

Mrs. Johnson is a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, the Bloomington chapter of the Eastern Star and the Bloomington Presbyterian Church.

She is a native of Bloomington and has lived there all her life.

Mrs. Johnson has two sons, both in the Army. They are Pfc. Hugh Keith Johnson and Pfc. David R. Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson's friendly, helpful ways have made her years of service in the Court House — first as deputy recorder and recently as recorder — useful to all who enter her office.

Salesman Admits Attacks Made In 9 Different States

DALLAS (AP) — A door-to-door salesman, who police quote as saying he is wanted in Gallipolis, Ohio, was being held here today after officers said he admitted raping 14 women in nine states.

Police Capt. Will Fritz said last night the 20-year-old salesman told him the attacks took place in Ohio, Texas, New Mexico, Illinois, Missouri, California, Arizona, Minnesota and Louisiana.

No charges have been filed against the man.

"I usually picked out older women as most all of them did not report it to police," apt. Fritz quoted the man.

"I always watched the newspapers and in only two or three of the places was the attack reported," Fritz quoted him.

Submarine Nipped By Big Vessel

PORTLAND, England (AP) — The British submarine Scorchier surfaced off Portland and saw a big freighter smack in its path.

Lt. Maurice Ingram immediately ordered a "crash dive" and the Scorchier slithered under the waves as the freighter sliced away the top half of the sub's periscope. Fifty men were aboard the sub for a training cruise. Another 30 inches and he'd have hit the conning tower.

Soviets Rap U. S. Use Of Huge Balloons

Giant Plastic Spheres Said Carrying Radios, Cameras Over Red Land

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia claims that U. S. military forces are dispatching fleets of huge balloons carrying automatic cameras and radio equipment over Soviet territory from West Germany and other border nations.

In Washington, a State Department spokesman indicated the Russians apparently were objecting to high-altitude weather balloons the U. S. Air Force announced last month it would send up in Europe.

The Air Force's European headquarters had no comment today on the Russian protest, terming it "a State Department affair."

The U. S. Air Force prior to this year had used its huge "Moby Dick" weather balloons only in the United States. Its January announcement said the program was being expanded to other areas in the Northern Hemisphere, including Europe, Alaska and Hawaii.

The giant plastic balloons carry weather instruments, cameras and equipment registering cosmic rays and other data which is radioed automatically to ground stations.

THE AIR FORCE said such information would be of great use in the 1957-58 Geophysical Year. Then two score nations including Russia will join in gathering information about weather, terrestrial magnetism, earthquakes and other data.

A Soviet note published by the official news agency Tass demanded that the United States immediately stop such activity. It said the balloons menace aircraft.

It demanded a halt also to propaganda-carrying balloons by private U. S. organizations.

Tass said the Soviet protest was handed to U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen by Deputy Foreign

$100,000 TV Prize Won By Youngster, 14

NEW YORK (AP) — George L. Wright III, who won $100,000 in television's biggest quiz prize Saturday night, planned to leave St. Agnes High School a little early today for a business conference at the Chase Manhattan Bank.

There he and his lawyer, together with producers of The Big Surprise TV show, will discuss terms of the trust fund to be set up with George's TV winnings.

The government will get the biggest slice of the $100,000. Federal and state income taxes are expected to whittle George's net winnings down to about $25,000.

The freckle-faced 14-year-old youngster also has other decisions to make besides how to handle his money. Since winning the prize, and even before, he has been sought by television, movies and recording companies.

George, who says he was able to answer the quiz show questions mainly because "my dad and mom are awfully smart," had three tries for the top prize.

He missed the first time but got another chance the following week when a "rescuer" in the audience knew the answer to another question and thereby reinstated him.

He got a third chance last Saturday because a question that he missed the week before was judged to have been unfair. He finally won the $100,000 by correctly identifying a song as "Me and My Shadow" and singing it.

Harry Allen Seeks Election As Auditor

Harry R. Allen, who was appointed Fayette County auditor by the county commissioners last Nov. 29 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Auditor Ullric Acton, is going to seek election to the office to fill out the unexpired term of his predecessor.

Harry R. Allen

Under the law, Allen's appointment was to run only until the next election next November; then an auditor must be elected for the remainder of the regular term, which won't expire until March of 1959.

Allen's first step now is to seek the Republican nomination at the May primary. It is understood that he will have opposition, but there have been no formal announcements of other candidates for the nomination.

When Allen was appointed auditor by the commissioners, he had the unanimous endorsement of the county's Republican Executive Committee.

ALLEN is a native Fayette Countyman, born on the farm at the edge of Octa where he still lives.

He was graduated from Washington C. H. High School in 1921 and from Wilmington College in 1927 with a bachelor of science degree.

Armed with his high school and college degrees, he started his career as a school teacher in the elementary schools of Fayette County. Later he went to Hocking County where he taught a business arithmetic and science class in the high school. From Hocking County he went to Madison County where he taught the same subjects in high school there.

He came back to his home county in 1931 to teach at Milledgeville

Many Ohio Roads Found Hazardous

COLUMBUS (AP)—Freezing rain over a good portion of the state today made highway travel hazardous and caused some schools to close.

City schools of Bryan, Wauseon, Defiance, Napoleon and Paulding, and all village and rural schools in Williams, Fulton, Defiance, Paulding and Henry counties were reported closed because of ice-covered highways.

The state highway department said highways were slippery due to freezing rain in the vicinity of Defiance, Findlay, Upper Sandusky and Lima. Some scattered slippery spots were reported in the vicinity of Zanesville, Lorain, Medina, Wooster, Mount Gilead and Marysville.

Speed-Weight On County Roads To Be Reduced

Weather Conditions
Cause Commissioners
Order Out Trucks

County Engineer Charles Wagner talked to the county commissioners at their regular session at the Court House Monday, regarding some danger of damage to some highways in the county system from the frequent freezing and thawing due to the continued unfavorable weather for the past many weeks.

The accumulation of water on some roads can cause some of the roadbeds to become soft if this type of weather continues and traffic is unrestricted.

As a result it was agreed that further attention to heavy traffic is required and a resolution was passed by the commissioners calling for reduction of the speed and weight of loaded trucks which use the county roads, by 25 percent until the danger passes.

The order becomes effective at once and signs are being posted on these roads giving the public notice of the speed and weight reduction required.

There was but little other business before the board for official attention except approval of the usual run of bills and routine details.

been reported missing. There was evidence that an attempt had been made to pry open a steel filing cabinet and that some of the desks and shelves had been ransacked, but there was little disorder left behind.

Supt. Smith said that if the prowlers were after money—and that was the only motive he could see—he said they were in barren territory because no money is kept in the office.

Police said they had about come to the conclusion that the Shell Co. service station was broken into by a boy who went in through a window in which the glass had been broken.

Footprints outside, they said, pointed to a boy or a very small man.

Little of value was reported missing although a coin vending machine had been looted.

Officers did not say whether they thought there was any connection between the break-ins—the first Saturday night at the service station and the second Sunday night at the school.

Autos Ditched By Freezing Fog

One Man Is Injured
Early Sunday

During that time of fog and slippery streets and highways for several hours starting around midnight Saturday, a number of cars were damaged by skidding into roadside ditches and curbs.

So far as reported, only one person was injured. That accident was on Route 35 (Chillicothe Road) at the Eymann farm, where a car driven by William H. Ulsh, Jr., of Charleston, S. C. left the highway, plunged into a ditch and broke off a telephone pole.

The top of the car was demolished, but Ulsh was not badly hurt. However, with him was Samuel Chatman, a soldier, of Fort Bragg, who sustained a severe gash across his forehead and nose. He was treated here.

Sheriff Orland Hays investigated the mishap. He said Ulsh told him that he came upon a car across the road and another in the ditch, applied his brakes and a moment later was also in the ditch.

Several other minor accidents were reported where cars skidded into the ditch and it was necessary to pull them out. No serious damage to cars was reported outside of the accident on the Chillicothe Road.

The fog had frozen on the trees and highways, rendering them very slippery and dangerous.

for the next 10 years.

He had his first elective public office in 1933 when he became clerk of Jasper Township.

After the second World War, he was induced to return to his teaching profession — this time as the instructor agriculture for a class of veterans at Good Hope. He took over the assignment in 1947 and continued to teach the class until 1955.

All told, he has devoted 26 years to teaching in the elementary schools, high school and the veterans courses in agriculture.

He and Mrs. Allen now live on the farm where he was born and which he and his brother, Oscar Allen, farm. Their son, Edward, is with the North American Aviation Co. at Columbus and their daughter, Miss Beverly Allen, is a junior in the home economics course at Ohio State University.

Allen said he feels that his career in teaching and his background of life on the farm — including grass roots farming — give him the kind of experience that is helpful to an auditor in an agricultural county such as Fayette County.

He is a member of the Methodist Church at Milledgeville and the Masonic, Eagles, Elks and Independent Order of Odd Fellows Lodges.

Soviets Rap U. S.

Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. A similar protest went to Turkey.

The protest to the Turks said some balloons had been floated over Soviet Armenia from Turkey. It demanded that the Ankara government ban the balloon launchings.

The Soviet note complained that the balloons, weighing nearly three quarters of a ton when loaded, "are launched by United States military organs from the territory of Western Germany and from United States air bases on the territory of several states bordering on the Soviet Union."

"The apparatus suspended from the aerial spheres includes automatic photographic cameras for aerial photography, radio transmitters, radio receivers and other things," the note said. "Investigation shows these spheres and the suspended apparatus are manufactured in the United States."

THE PROTEST charged that the activity is "a gross violation of Soviet air space, contrary to obligations assumed by the U. S. government in accordance with the U. N. Charter and incompatible with normal relations between states."

The note was the first Soviet accusation that the U. S. military was sending balloons into Russia. Previously, Communist papers had carried on a running attack against propaganda balloons sent up from West Germany by the American Free Europe Committee, a private organization which operates Radio Free Europe.

New Pheasants Are Increasing

Reeves Birds Finding
Ohio To Liking

More than 900 squirrel hunters cooperated last fall in reporting the number of Reeves pheasants they saw on the Brush Creek Wildlife Area in Jefferson County, according to the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

The first test releases of these large, gaudy, forest-dwelling birds were made on this area. There were 165 released in the fall of 1954 and 60 more in the fall of 1955.

Squirrel hunters hunting on Brush Creek reported seeing 98 Reeves pheasants during the first half of October. Some idea of the relative abundance of the Reeves may be gained from the fact that hunters saw 427 ruffed grouse and 9 deer at the same time.

Earlier in the fall, some 60 farmers located around the Brush Creek area were interviewed concerning the number of Reeves they had seen during the summer. They reported about 200 pheasants, nearly half of them young. This indicates that at least a fair number of broods were brought off.

Division personnel had located three broods on Brush Creek area proper so that this first test release appears to be partially successful at the present time.

THE SECOND test release of the Reeves was made in the spring of 1955 on an island in Tappan Lake in Harrison County. Eight broods were hatched on the island and between thirty and forty young were raised to maturity.

A third test release was made in the fall of 1955 on the Shade River Forest in Meigs County. It is expected that test releases of Reeves pheasants will be continued on the present localized scale until there is good evidence that either they are suited to certain parts of Ohio, or that they will not thrive under our conditions.

Should the test releases show any general success over large sections of southeastern Ohio, game farm production could be diverted to the production of the Reeves for release in suitable habitat.

for 8 1/2 hours seeking help.

Behind him were the 16 passengers in his bus, many of them praying that he would get through. The bus had slipped from the highway into a drift. For five hours, Herron had waited for help, then he set out.

He collapsed a few yards from a service station in Glenrio, N.M. He had strength enough to whistle and was rescued by men from the station. Help was started on its way to the bus—12 miles away in one of the worst storms in recent years.

Snowplows and tractors broke a path to the bus, taking food and water and fuel to keep the bus heaters going during the night. Early Sunday, after 21 hours of waiting, the passengers were removed, taken to Tucumcari and then set on their way.

Herron is in a Tucumcari hospital recuperating from snowblindness, frostbite and exhaustion. He is reported in good condition.

Speed-Weight On County Roads To Be Reduced

Weather Conditions
Cause Commissioners
Order Out Trucks

County Engineer Charles Wagner talked to the county commissioners at their regular session at the Court House Monday, regarding some danger of damage to some highways in the county system from the frequent freezing and thawing due to the continued unfavorable weather for the past many weeks.

The accumulation of water on some roads can cause some of the roadbeds to become soft if this type of weather continues and traffic is unrestricted.

As a result it was agreed that further attention to heavy traffic is required and a resolution was passed by the commissioners calling for reduction of the speed and weight of loaded trucks which use the county roads, by 25 percent until the danger passes.

The order becomes effective at once and signs are being posted on these roads giving the public notice of the speed and weight reduction required.

There was but little other business before the board for official attention except approval of the usual run of bills and routine details.

Break-ins Here

been reported missing. There was evidence that an attempt had been made to pry open a steel filing cabinet and that some of the desks and shelves had been ransacked, but there was little disorder left behind.

Supt. Smith said that if the prowlers were after money—and that was the only motive he could see—he said they were in barren territory because no money is kept in the office.

Police said they had about come to the conclusion that the Shell Co. service station was broken into by a boy who went in through a window in which the glass had been broken.

Footprints outside, they said, pointed to a boy or a very small man.

Little of value was reported missing although a coin vending machine had been looted.

Officers did not say whether they thought there was any connection between the break-ins—the first Saturday night at the service station and the second Sunday night at the school.

Autos Ditched By Freezing Fog

One Man Is Injured
Early Sunday

During that time of fog and slippery streets and highways for several hours starting around midnight Saturday, a number of cars were damaged by skidding into roadside ditches and curbs.

So far as reported, only one person was injured. That accident was on Route 35 (Chillicothe Road) at the Eymann farm, where a car driven by William H. Ullsh, Jr., of Charleston, S. C. left the highway, plunged into a ditch and broke off a telephone pole.

The top of the car was demolished, but Ullsh was not badly hurt. However, with him was Samuel Chatman, a soldier, of Fort Bragg, who sustained a severe gash across his forehead and nose. He was treated here.

Sheriff Orland Hays investigated the mishap. He said Ullsh told him that he came upon a car across the road and another in the ditch, applied his brakes and a moment later was also in the ditch.

Several other minor accidents were reported where cars skidded into the ditch and it was necessary to pull them out. No serious damage to cars was reported outside of the accident on the Chillicothe Road.

The fog had frozen on the trees and highways, rendering them very slippery and dangerous.

Allen a Candidate

He had his first elective public office in 1933 when he became clerk of Jasper Township.

After the second World War, he was induced to return to his teaching profession—this time as the instructor agriculture for a class of veterans at Good Hope. He took over the assignment in 1947 and continued to teach the class until 1955.

All told, he has devoted 26 years to teaching in the elementary schools, high school and the veterans courses in agriculture.

He and Mrs. Allen now live on the farm where he was born and which he and his brother, Oscar Allen, farm. Their son, Edward, is with the North American Aviation Co. at Columbus and their daughter, Miss Beverly Allen, is a junior in the home economics course at Ohio State University.

Allen said he feels that his career in teaching and his background of life on the farm—including grass roots farming—give him the kind of experience that is helpful to an auditor in an agricultural county such as Fayette County.

He is a member of the Methodist Church at Milledgeville and the Masonic, Eagles, Elks and Independent Order of Odd Fellows Lodges.

Soviets Rap U. S.

Minister Andrei A. Gromyko. A similar protest went to Turkey.

The protest to the Turks said some balloons had been floated over Soviet Armenia from Turkey. It demanded that the Ankara government ban the balloon launchings.

The Soviet note complained that the balloons, weighing nearly three quarters of a ton when loaded, "are launched by United States military organs from the territory of Western Germany and from United States air bases on the territory of several states bordering on the Soviet Union."

"The apparatus suspended from the aerial spheres includes automatic photographic cameras for aerial photography, radio transmitters, radio receivers and other things," the note said. "Investigation shows these spheres and the suspended apparatus are manufactured in the United States."

THE PROTEST charged that the activity is "a gross violation of Soviet air space, contrary to obligations assumed by the U. S. government in accordance with the U. N. Charter and incompatible with normal relations between states."

The note was the first Soviet accusation that the U. S. military was sending balloons into Russia. Previously, Communist papers had carried on a running attack against propaganda balloons sent up from West Germany by the American Free Europe Committee, a private organization which operates Radio Free Europe.

New Pheasants Are Increasing

Reeves Birds Finding
Ohio To Liking

More than 900 squirrel hunters cooperated last fall in reporting the number of Reeves pheasants they saw on the Brush Creek Wildlife Area in Jefferson County, according to the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

The first test releases of these large, gaudy, forest-dwelling birds were made on this area. There were 15 released in the fall of 1954 and 60 more in the fall of 1955.

Squirrel hunters hunting on Brush Creek reported seeing 98 Reeves pheasants during the first half of October. Some idea of the relative abundance of the Reeves may be gained from the fact that hunters saw 427 ruffed grouse and 9 deer at the same time.

Earlier in the fall, some 60 farmers located around the Brush Creek area were interviewed concerning the number of Reeves they had seen during the summer. They reported about 200 pheasants, nearly half of them young. This indicates that at least a fair number of broods were brought off.

Division personnel had located three broods on Brush Creek Area proper so that this first test release appears to be partially successful at the present time.

THE SECOND test release of the Reeves was made in the spring of 1955 on an island in Tappan Lake in Harrison County. Eight broods were hatched on the island and between thirty and forty young were reared to maturity.

A third test release was made in the fall of 1955 on the Shade River Forest in Meigs County.

It is expected that test releases of Reeves pheasants will be continued on the present localized scale until there is good evidence that either they are suited to certain parts of Ohio, or that they will not thrive under our conditions.

Should the test releases show any general success over large sections of south-eastern Ohio, game farm production could be diverted to the production of the Reeves for release in suitable habitat.

for 8 1/2 hours seeking help. Behind him were the 16 passengers in his bus, many of them praying that he would get through. The bus had slipped from the highway into a drift. For five hours, Herron had waited for help, then he set out.

He collapsed a few yards from a service station in Glenrio, N.M. He had strength enough to whistle and was rescued by men from the station. Help was started on its way to the bus—12 miles away in one of the worst storms in recent years.

Snowplows and tractors broke a path to the bus, taking food and water and fuel to keep the bus heaters going during the night. Early Sunday, after 21 hours of waiting, the passengers were removed, taken to Tucumcari and then set on their way.

Herron is in a Tucumcari hospital recuperating from snowblindness, frostbite and exhaustion. He is reported in good condition. "I prayed all the time," said Mrs. Henrietta Roosevelt of San Francisco, one of the passengers. "We were really praying for him," reported Mrs. Laura O'Toole of Santa Barbara, Calif.

Barely able to speak above a whisper, the bus driver told how he stumbled and fell three or four times "but kept getting up. I was afraid to stop because I thought I wouldn't go on then."

Mary Hawthorth's Mail

DEAR MARY HAWTHORTH: I am in the Woman's Army Corps and I am very much in love with a sergeant, also of this post. He is married and has three lovely children. However, he is separated from his wife and was filing a suit for divorce before I met him.

Sam is 26, and considered a very attractive man. Since I have known him, I discover we have a lot in common and he is very sympathetic to my situation and outlook on life.

Those who haven't served in the WAC seem to look down on us, as if we had lowered our standards of womanhood by working for our country in the armed forces. Because of this narrow-minded outlook, Sam's wife refused him a divorce, since she learned that we were planning to be married as soon as he was free.

I don't exactly know what her viewpoint is; or why it should interest her, what her husband does, as they don't love each other any more. I have talked to her, but she refuses to reason at all. So I should like to know how to cope with the situation.

I think I would make as good a wife as any woman; and I don't believe I have lowered my moral standards in the least by being in the armed forces. Won't you please try to help me? Surely there must be some logical way to work out my problem.

H. P. DEAR H. P.: Evidently Sam's wife has that meanly proprietary attitude towards him proverbially known as dog-in-the-manger. She doesn't prize him for himself and doesn't enjoy having him around. And at the same time she doesn't want to give him a chance to be happy in other circumstances that exclude her; which suggests that she is a pessimist, who doesn't expect to be happy with anybody, ever.

Thus she is obstructing the idea of divorce for Sam, since he found you, without being able to explain (or justify) her stand. As for the moral snobbery to which you refer, on the part of many blind critics of the WAC, it is a heartless display of ignorance and indifference, as regards the facts.

The gossip supposition, widely circulated, that members of this outfit are morally indecorous, in general, got its start during World War II. ## Know and Obey Traffic Laws

Police Chief Talks On Greater Safety

Chief of Police Vaiden Long said that his department was joining with the other enforcement and safety agencies in the Operation Safety Campaign for the month of February. Emphasis is being placed on the theme "Know and Obey Traffic Laws".

A number of studies indicate that 90 percent of the vehicle collisions have at least one violation involved. In the urban areas excessive speed leads the list of violations, 21 out of every hundred fatal accidents showing this type of violations.

Right of way violations come second with 17, alcohol 7 and disregard of an officer or traffic control device is 6.

A little more than half of the speed violations actually were in excess of the statutory limits for the area. The others were within the speed limit, but were traveling too fast for the conditions of the roadway and visibility. The Chief remarked that a great many people don't seem to realize that Ohio law requires a vehicle to be operated at a speed which will permit it to be stopped in the assured clear distance ahead. That assured clear distance is the space between your car and the one in front.

In many communities it is common to see cars travelling almost bumper to bumper, scarcely more than a dozen feet between them; no vehicle can be stopped in that distance unless the speed is in the neighborhood of 5 or 7 miles an hour, and pavement has to be dry to do that.

A wet pavement practically doubles the stopping distance, while snow and ice require 3 to 12 times the dry pavement distance for stopping the vehicle.

There are two major types of right of way violations in the cities, practically all of them occurring at intersections. People commonly can think of a right of way violation as involving a car on the other street, coming up to the corner. But in the cities that is the lesser or the least frequent violation.

The common right of way violation is the failure of a turning vehicle to yield right of way to through traffic. Many persons fail to realize that the pedestrian who is walking with the signal or with the main flow of traffic has the right of way over the vehicle that intends to turn.

tributed to your pension fund. If your employer contributed to your pension fund, but counted his contribution as part of your wages, and you paid income tax on his contributions, the law regards the total of his contributions as part of your cost.

Here is the general rule for finding out how much of your annual pension or annuity income you can exclude (special cases are dealt with on page 9 of the instructions): Part II of Schedule "E" on Page 3 of Form 1040 deals with the special case of pensions where the total cost is recovered in three years or less.

First, you must find out what the pension or annuity cost you.

Secondly, you must find out how much you can expect to get out of it. The Revenue Service will tell you this, from actuarial tables. Your employer may have the tables drawn up by Revenue.

You then divide your total cost by what you can expect to receive, getting a percentage figure which is your "exclusion factor." You continue using the same exclusion factor as long as you get the pension or annuity income. As an example:

Say you have a pension (or annuity) which cost you $5,000, and that you can expect to get $10,000 in pension payments, all told. Dividing $5,000 by $10,000 gives you 50 per cent. That means that you can exclude, every year, 50 per cent of your pension or annuity payments from taxation. Part I of Schedule "E" leads you through the steps to find your exclusion according to this general rule for pensions and annuities to which you contributed.

With your exclusion determined, you are ready to find out if you can also get a credit against your retirement income tax. You work this out in Schedule "K" on page 4 of Form 1040.

You are not permitted to enter in Schedule "K" any pension or annuity income you have excluded from your taxable income. And you can qualify for a retirement income tax credit only if you (or your deceased wife or husband) earned at least $600 in each of 10 years before 1955 (not necessarily 10 consecutive years).

Taxpayers under 65 years of age through Dec. 31, 1955 may use in Schedule "K" any qualified income from pensions and annuities under public retirement systems. This includes retirement systems of federal, state and local governments. Retirement pay of the armed services — formerly, not counted here—may now be used.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am in the Woman's Army Corps and I am very much in love with a sergeant, also of this post. He is married and has three lovely children. However, he is separated from his wife and was filing a suit for divorce before I met him.

Sam is 26, and considered a very attractive man. Since I have known him, I discover we have a lot in common and he is very sympathetic to my situation and outlook on life.

Those who haven't served in the WAC seem to look down on us, as if we had lowered our standards of womanhood by working for our country in the armed forces. Because of this narrow-minded outlook, Sam's wife has refused him a divorce, since she learned that we were planning to be married as soon as he was free.

I don't exactly know what her viewpoint is; or why it should interest her, what her husband does, as they don't love each other any more. I have talked to her, but she refuses to reason at all. So I should like to know how to cope with the situation.

I think I would make as good a wife as any woman; and I don't believe I have lowered my moral standards in the least by being in the armed forces. Won't you please try to help me? Surely there must be some logical way to work out my problem.

H. P.

DEAR H. P.: Evidently Sam's wife has that meanly proprietary attitude towards him proverbially known as dog-in-the-manger. She doesn't prize him for himself and doesn't enjoy having him around. And at the same time she doesn't want to give him a chance to be happy in other circumstances that exclude her; which suggests that she is a pessimist, who doesn't expect to be happy with anybody, ever.

Thus she is obstructing the idea of divorce for Sam, since he found you, without being able to explain (or justify) her stand.

As for the moral snobbery to which you refer, on the part of many blind critics of the WAC, it is a heartless display of ignorance and indifference, as regards the facts.

The gossipous supposition, widely circulated, that members of this outfit are morally indecorous, in general, got its start during World War II. - The exclusion and the credit must be handled separately in making your tax return. So we will deal first with the exclusion, and after that with the retirement income tax credit.
- The provisions under which you may be able to exclude some of your annuity or pension income from taxation are dealt with in the instructions booklet that comes with Form 1040 (which you must use if you have this kind of income) on pages 8 and 9, under the title "Annuities and Pensions." The retirement income tax credit provisions are dealt with in the instructions on page 15, as one of several "Credits Against Tax."

Schedule "E" in the middle of page 3 of Form 1040 is the special part of the form for claiming an exclusion of part of your pension or annuity income.

However—some kinds of pension or annuity income are entirely excludable. That means you need not even report that you got the income. Consequently, if you have income from these tax exempt sources, you need not fill in Schedule "E," because it is for the use of those whose pension or annuity income is only partly tax free.

THE FULLY EXEMPT pension or annuity incomes are:

Benefits from the social security system, from the railroad retirement system, and pensions received as workman's compensation for a disability.

You can only exclude from your taxable income, over the years, an amount equal to what the pension or annuity cost you. Your cost is the total of what you paid to get the annuity, or what you contributed to your pension fund. If your employer contributed to your pension fund, but counted his contribution as part of your wages, and you paid income tax on his contributions, the law regards the total of his contributions as part of your cost.

Here is the general rule for finding out how much of your annual pension or annuity income you can exclude (special cases are dealt with on page 9 of the instructions): Part II of Schedule "E" on Page 3 of Form 1040 deals with the special case of pensions where the total cost is recovered in three years or less.

First, you must find out what the pension or annuity cost you.

Secondly, you must find out how much you can expect to get out of it. The Revenue Service will tell you this, from actuarial tables. Your employer may have the tables drawn up by Revenue.

You then divide your total cost by what you can expect to receive, getting a percentage figure which is your "exclusion factor." You continue using the same exclusion factor as long as you get the pension or annuity income. As an example:

Say you have a pension (or annuity) which cost you $5,000, and that you can expect to get $10,000 in pension payments, all told. Dividing $5,000 by $10,000 gives you 50 per cent. That means that you can exclude, every year, 50 per cent of your pension or annuity payments from taxation. Part I of Schedule "E" leads you through the steps to find your exclusion according to this general rule for pensions and annuities to which you contributed.

With your exclusion determined, you are ready to find out if you can also get a credit against your retirement income tax. You work this out in Schedule "K" on page 4 of Form 1040.

You are not permitted to enter in Schedule "K" any pension or annuity income you have excluded from your taxable income. And you can qualify for a retirement income tax credit only if you (or your deceased wife or husband) earned at least $600 in each of 10 years before 1955 (not necessarily 10 consecutive years).

Taxpayers under 65 years of age through Dec. 31, 1955 may use in Schedule "K" only qualified income from pensions and annuities under public retirement systems. This includes retirement systems of federal, state and local governments. Retirement pay of the armed services—formerly, not counted here—may now be used.

Now Here Is Another Scheme To Be Blocked

Again an effort is being made by certain big city political groups, principally Cleveland, to change the Ohio General Assembly setup on membership so that the big cities of the state would be able to dominate the legislature.

This plan has been attempted in one form or another several times in the past 30 or 40 years, but always has been defeated. If successful it would give the big cities virtual control of Ohio legislative affairs and small counties like Fayette would have little to say about what legislation would be passed or changed.

Our state in the past under the present spread of members of the state legislative body, House and Senate, has moved along without much trouble and the rural sections have had a chance to get their share of proper legislative changes when needed; also they have been able to stop certain types of legislation designed mostly for the benefit of big centers of population. Why change now?

It should be remembered also that many of the greatest legislative leaders which Ohio has had have come from some of the small counties.

Instead of each county being entitled to at least one representative in the General Assembly, the new proposal would have representatives chosen by congressional districts, which also would serve for election of state senators.

The proposal is for election of six representatives and two senators from each congressional district, a reapportionment idea which only could have been born in a big city mind with the idea of obtaining dominance over the state legislature.

Under this plan, Fayette County, for example would join with Pickaway, Pike, Scioto, Ross, Highland, Adams, Brown and Clermont counties in the election of six representatives, and two senators. Currently, Ross, Greene, Clinton, Highland and Fayette counties join in the election of one senator.

The suggested proposal would perpetuate the boundaries of the present congressional district, about which Fayette County hasn't been too happy, anyway, it was shifted from the 7th District a few years ago.

But, the big objection, of course, is the loss of the legislative voice of Fayette and 76 of the other 88 counties of the state. At the same time, Cuyahoga County would have 24 representatives, instead of 17 as at present, and eight senators, instead of six. Hamilton (Cincinnati) County would have 12 representatives and four senators, but the others, with the exception of a few chiefly in north and northeast Ohio, would be wiped out as such in Ohio's legislative chambers.

It is recognized that Cuyahoga and the metropolitan centers are entitled to representation in proportion to their numbers, also that they do not have it now. But this scheme to wipe out counties as such is carrying the numbers game too far.

Few Men Get A Good Shave

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is one time the average fellow feels least in need of a woman's advice, it's probably while he's shaving.

"But he's wrong," insisted pretty Rem Schoen, who believes she is the world's only lady career pogonomist. "Most men don't really know how to shave properly, even though they do it about 16,000 times in their lifetime."

Miss Schoen, a former Pater-son, N. J., grade school teacher, got into the field of pogonomomy, the art of shaving, by accident. While working temporarily as a model, she learned that executives of a safety razor company were depressed over the fact so few men knew how to get a really good shave. She sold them on the idea of letting her tour the nation and give demonstrations of proper shaving techniques in high schools, colleges, offices and factories.

To prepare for her career Miss Schoen tutored for several months under Elbridge J. Casselman, a Staunton, Va., scientist. She feels Casselman is to pogonomomy as Shakespeare is to literature. He's the titan of the beard world.

"He has been studying shaving scientifically for more than 25 years," she said. "A remarkable man—always clean-shaven. I don't think I ever saw him with stubble on his face."

During her demonstrations Miss Schoen admits she sometimes finds it difficult to get a man to act as guinea pig while she shows off her shaving grace. "Men seem instinctively distrustful of a woman with a razor in her hand," she said, smiling. "But so far I've been lucky. I haven't lopped off a nose or ear yet."

What mistake do most men make while shaving? "They are too slap-dash," she said. "The hairs in their beard contain a chemical known as keratin which makes them as tough as copper wires. This must be dissolved before you can get a good close shave."

Here is her recipe for a good shave: "First, wash the face thoroughly in soap and hot water to get rid of the grit and start dissolving the keratin. This should take at least a minute and a half."

"The lather should be brushed on vigorously for three minutes, to soak the beard thoroughly and dissolve the rest of the keratin."

"Keep the razor wet while shaving. Hold the razor at a 20-to-30-degree angle (a flat-topped razor is best; it is set at a 25-degree angle), and shave with short firm strokes."

"If you have a tender skin, use cool water in applying the lather."

"Always shave toward the chin, where the beard is thick-

est. Shave against the grain only when clearing up the rough spots."

"After shaving, apply an antiseptic talcum powder. Clean the razor but don't dry the blade. Let it dry itself. It will stay sharp longer."

Miss Schoen is full of beard lore. Here are a few items: "The average beard has 25,000 hairs and the average man spends two months of his life shaving."

"His beard grows from 1.50th to 3.64th of an inch a day. It grows faster in summer than in the winter."

"Beard hairs range from 5-1,000 to 8-1,000th of an inch in thickness. Shaving doesn't make the beard thicker. Age does it."

"A shave will last longer if you shave your whiskers off after breakfast. Before breakfast your face is still puffy from sleep."

"Blue collar workers today shave just as often as white collar workers, but they often shave at night rather than in the morning."

"The thickness of a man's beard is no index of his virility." Miss Schoen says that Alexander the Great was probably the first military leader to order his troops to shave as a military measure.

"He did it so the enemy couldn't grab his men by their beards in close combat," she explained.

Public Debt Is Ball and Chain

By George Sokolsky

Nobody can ever actually see the ball and chain of $280,000,000 that we call our public debt. But then there are so many realities in life that we do not see, or feel, or touch, or smell. The public debt is an imperious thing that affects the value of our currency, the stability of government, the credit of government. And as we are all part of the government, it affects us all.

One of the things one learns in a hospital is that there is literally no use for crying over spilt milk. It is like trying to find out why a heart muscle has rusted away. You can get a thousand different explanations and one will make you more unhappy than the other. The fact is that it happened and you lie about waiting for it to heal, if it can.

The same thing is true of all the battles we conservatives lost during the past 20 years or more. They are lost. Already a new world has come into existence, not a better world nor a more satisfactory world but a different one. The emphasis on values is different. For instance, when I was a young man at college, the goal was great achievement — possibly great money achievement — to be somebody like Andrew Carnegie or John D. Rockefeller, or to head some corporation or institution. Today, a young man's goal is security — he wants to be sure that he will not be without a pay envelope. Even the modest among us planned to write books or plays that would have put them on easy street; today, the best one can hope for is that the income tax can be spread over a period of years. The fellow whose goal is achievement is a risk-taker; the fellow whose goal is security can become a coward. He has too much to preserve to risk even a little. He conforms to the current pattern.

Maybe he is just as happy. He works 40 hours a week, grows roses in the spring, listens to good music at night and reads paper-covered books on his way to sleep. But his productive outlook is nothing to get excited about. The Russians, who are in the rebuilding stage, are now like we used to be. They offer all kinds of bonuses and incentives as though they were capitalists and nobody thinks of only working 40 hours a week because such limited productivity is practically sabotage. They are pushing as we pushed in the 1890's and the results are showing.

The question with them as with us is, what does the individual get out of it? When taxes and the high cost of living consume so great a share of a man's earnings that he can leave little for his family beyond living up to the Joneses, the incentive is not enough and many fall into the normal attitude of bureaucrats which is to do what one has to do and no more. The job is written up and that is it; to do more is to impinge on somebody else's job. Such people are even disliked personalities, although they are the only kind of human beings who make the wheels of life or industry go round.

And that brings us back to our national debt and a great many mistakes that were made over the past 20 years by a bureaucracy that really governed us for the first time in our history. We accepted their rule because it was more convenient to obey than to be a dissenter. Besides dissenters have bad names; they are not pleasant people. So we as a nation let a flock of bureaucrats take hold of us and govern us. They told us what to do.

Now we need to straighten things out and we cannot, because historic errors, once made, move so rapidly and fix themselves so rigidly that only wars or revolutions can change them. So, we shall have to live in this new world or not live at all.

Diet and Health Antibiotics Assume New Responsibility

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Researchers have come up with a new use for antibiotics.

Aureomycin, they report, soon may be used to help bring fresh meats, fish and poultry into your home. Tests show that the antibiotic will help hold the fresh-killed taste and appearance of these foods all the way from the slaughterer or packer right to the consumer.

Stays Fresh

For example, the researchers report, poultry dipped in an aureomycin solution, then packaged and stored under commercial refrigeration, could not be distinguished from fresh-killed birds even after 14 days.

Only minute or "trace" amounts of the antibiotic are required in the process. And, in the case of fish, the antibiotic can be applied in a dip usually handled with the rinse or pre-chill process. What little of the antibiotic might remain after processing is destroyed in cooking. None of it is consumed by eating the food, the researchers emphasize.

Retards Spoilage

Use of the antibiotic retards the growth of spoilage bacteria. Healthy animals, you see, have a built-in mechanism to keep such bacteria in check.

Killing the animal, however, leaves nothing to fight off these spoilers, so aureomycin takes up where the body defense stopped. It keeps the product fresh by holding back bacterial contamination on the way to your neighborhood grocery or meat market.

Combined Factors

While both refrigeration and antibiotics retard the growth of bacteria already in food, refrigeration and antibiotics combined can do a lot more for preserving perishable foods than either can alone.

What does this mean to you? Well, it means that these perishable products can be shipped longer distances. Animals can be killed 500 miles from the point of consumption and trucked to market as carcasses. And fish caught off the coast of Washington can be shipped cross-country and still be fresh more than two weeks later.

Eventually, it might mean cheaper meat for many of us.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. E. T. K.: Is there anything except ulcers that would cause indigestion and a burning in the stomach?

Answer: Indigestion and burning of the stomach may come from excessive acid in the stomach, also from bad eating habits, such as overeating or eating too fast, gallbladder disease and from certain nervous disorders.

Careful study by your physician will be necessary to find the cause before proper treatment could be prescribed.

Zanesville Paper Prints Despite Labor Disturbance

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Zanesville Publishing Co. put out a normal, 28-page edition of the morning Times-Recorder today, with no picket demonstration similar to the one that kept the newspaper plant blockaded for 13 hours Saturday.

Common Pleas Judge Clarence J. Crossland set Tuesday for a hearing on a permanent injunction to limit picketing at the plant.

Saturday's demonstration by 150 pickets was broken up when Sheriff David Weissert distributed "John Doe" copies of the temporary injunction limiting pickets to two per entrance.

The pickets included persons whom police called "sympathizers" from other labor groups who joined members of striking Local 199 of the International Typographical Union (ITU) on the picket line.

The union struck last Nov. 30 in a dispute over wages and work clauses. The company employs 53 members of Local 199.

The Nation Today

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—If the natural gas bill—which the Senate votes on today—becomes law, it may mean higher prices on gas for homes. It seems certain to create confusion for years.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), the bill's author, says it "clarifies" the present law. But in its key part the language is so vague it probably will be fought through the courts, if it becomes law.

It would free producers of natural gas from direct federal control. In this way, Fulbright says, it will encourage producers to turn out more gas and thus keep prices down.

Asked if the gas price for householders will go up if the bill is passed, he said: "I would not say it can't go up." The bill's other chief sponsor, Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.), says there may be some slight increases.

Why the bill at all? Fulbright and Monroney and others say producers shouldn't be under direct control. They note that oil and coal prices are not controlled by the federal government.

Opponents of this measure, led by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.), argue it means high prices for the consumer because the producers will be able to charge higher prices. This is the phrase around which the confusion swirls. What is a "reasonable market price"? At this point some background is needed.

There are three basic steps, and three groups of people, involved in getting gas into your home from a well perhaps 1,000 miles away: the producer, the pipeline company, and the local utility company.

1. Producers find gas while drilling for oil. There are between 5,000 and 8,000 of them. Of these, 190—or between 2 and 4 per cent—sell 90 per cent of the gas to the pipelines. Those 190 include some of the biggest oil companies.

2. Pipeline companies buy the gas from the producers and carry it from the states which produce it—the biggest producers are in the Southwest—to other states which need it. About 17 pipeline companies almost completely dominate this field.

3. Outside a city the local utility company buys, gas from the pipeline and moves it into homes through city and town gas mains, over 300,000 miles of them. Each local utility company has in effect a monopoly.

For that reason most utility companies are under state or city control. Their rates are fixed, allowing them usually a price that will give them a 6 per cent return on their investment.

The producers and pipelines, whose gas moves across state lines, were not controlled until 1938. Congress then passed an act giving the Federal Power Commission authority over "natural gas companies."

Those three words caused confusion for years. What is a natural gas company? There was no doubt it meant pipelines. But did it also mean producers who simply sold their gas to pipelines?

The FPC, setting the rates which pipelines charged utilities, said it didn't think Congress meant it to control producers. That went on for years. On June 7, 1954, the Supreme Court said FPC, under the 1938 law, must control producers.

At once FPC froze all producers' prices. Since then it has let a number of them raise prices. But the FPC ran into another problem.

The 1938 law said the FPC should fix "just and reasonable rates" for producers and pipelines.

In the year and a half since the court decision FPC still hasn't worked out a formula that would govern "just and reasonable rates." Meanwhile, the producers have sought for years to get from under any semblance of FPC control.

Fulbright's bill would put them under indirect control this way: The FPC is supposed to control the prices pipelines pay producers for their gas. What should that price be? The bill says a "reasonable market price." What's that?

There is huge disagreement. The FPC, which still hasn't worked out a formula to fit the language in the present law—"just and reasonable rates"—has told Congress it would prefer to administer that phrase than try its luck with a "reasonable market price."

Fulbright and others backing the bill say there should be no trouble with it. But Douglas and those opposing say "reasonable market price" really means the sky's the limit on the prices producers will be able to charge.

Industry Stepping Up Fight Against Pollution Of Water

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry—which has spent around one billion dollars to offset its pollution of air and water—is stepping up the fight on all fronts. Including its unfortunate assault on the nation's nostrils.

Most states now have laws on the subject of pollution as it affects streams and harbors. A congressional committee this session is expected to look into the matter on the federal level. Cities fight the problem. Foreign countries also are adopting American methods.

Cities may perfect methods of making once polluted water fit for drinking as far as danger of disease goes and still have remaining problems of unpleasant tastes and odors in tap water.

Industrial odors can be costly. They can affect the value of real estate and, as in the case of smoke damage, for example, ruin the sale of merchandise.

Odors also create in-plant problems, as well as ruckuses with the neighbors. Sometimes they affect the processing of goods, especially foods. More often they have a direct bearing on labor relations. With industrial expansion the problems increase.

Some of the classic ones are steel mill slag, nonferrous metals smelters, chemical plants, canneries, slaughter houses, brewing—not to overlook illegal distilling of white mule.

With all of these, except the last, industry has grappled with considerable success, using refrigeration, air conditioning, improved ventilation and disinfectants.

Since the war several firms have made a direct assault on the problem by producing chemicals that combine with odors to make them innocuous.

Cities may perfect methods of making once polluted water fit for drinking as far as danger of disease goes and still have remaining problems of unpleasant tastes and odors in tap water.

Industrial odors can be costly. They can affect the value of real estate and, as in the case of smoke damage, for example, ruin the sale of merchandise.

Odors also create in-plant problems, as well as ruckuses with the neighbors. Sometimes they affect the processing of goods, especially foods. More often they have a direct bearing on labor relations. With industrial expansion the problems increase.

Some of the classic ones are steel mill slag, nonferrous metals smelters, chemical plants, canneries, slaughter houses, brewing—not to overlook illegal distilling of white mule.

With all of these, except the last, industry has grappled with considerable success, using refrigeration, air conditioning, improved ventilation and disinfectants.

Since the war several firms have made a direct assault on the problem by producing chemicals that combine with odors to make them innocuous.

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Zanesville Publishing Co. put out a normal, 28-page edition of the morning Times-Recorder today, with no picket demonstration similar to the one that kept the newspaper plant blockaded for 13 hours Saturday.

Common Pleas Judge Clarence J. Crossland set Tuesday for a hearing on a permanent injunction to limit picketing at the plant.

Saturday's demonstration by 150 pickets was broken up when Sheriff David Weissert distributed "John Doe" copies of the temporary injunction limiting pickets to two per entrance.

The pickets included persons whom police called "sympathizers" from other labor groups who joined members of striking Local 199 of the International Typographical Union (ITU) on the picket line.

The union struck last Nov. 30 in a dispute over wages and work clauses. The company employs 53 members of Local 199.

Few Men Get A Good Shave

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is one time the average fellow feels least in need of a woman's advice, it's probably while he's shaving.

"But he's wrong," insisted pretty Rem Schoen, who believes she is the world's only lady career pogonomist. "Most men don't really know how to shave properly, even though they do it about 16,000 times in their lifetime."

Miss Schoen, a former Paterson, N. J., grade school teacher, got into the field of pogonomomy, the art of shaving, by accident.

While working temporarily as a model, she learned that executives of a safety razor company were depressed over the fact so few men knew how to get a really good shave. She sold them on the idea of letting her tour the nation and give demonstrations of proper shaving techniques in high schools, colleges, offices and factories.

To prepare for her career Miss Schoen tutored for several months under Elbridge J. Caselman, a Staunton, Va., scientist. She feels Caselman is to pogonomomy as Shakespeare is to literature. He's the titan of the beard world.

"He has been studying shaving scientifically for more than 25 years," she said. "A remarkable man—always clean-shaven. I don't think I ever saw him with stubble on his face."

During her demonstrations Miss Schoen admits she sometimes finds it difficult to get a man to act as guinea pig while she shows off her shaving grace.

"Men seem instinctively distrustful of a woman with a razor in her hand," she said, smiling. "But so far I've been lucky. I haven't lopped off a nose or ear yet."

What mistake do most men make while shaving?

"They are too slap-dash," she said. "The hairs in their beard contain a chemical known as keratin which makes them as tough as copper wires. This must be dissolved before you can get a good close shave."

Here is her recipe for a good shave:
"First, wash the face thoroughly in soap and hot water to get rid of the grit and start dissolving the keratin. This should take at least a minute and a half.

"The lather should be brushed on vigorously for three minutes, to soak the beard thoroughly and dissolve the rest of the keratin.

"Keep the razor wet while shaving. Hold the razor at a 20- to 30-degree angle (a flat-topped razor is best; it is set at a 25-degree angle), and shave with short firm strokes.

"If you have a tender skin, use cool water in applying the lather.

"Always shave toward the chin, where the beard is thick-

est. Shave against the grain only when clearing up the rough spots.

"After shaving, apply an antiseptic talcum powder. Clean the razor but don't dry the blade. Let it dry itself. It will stay sharp longer."

Miss Schoen is full of beard lore. Here are a few items:

"The average beard has 25,000 hairs and the average man spends two months of his life shaving.

"His beard grows from 1.50th to 3.64th of an inch a day. It grows faster in summer than in the winter.

"Beard hairs range from 5-1,000 to 8-1,000th of an inch in thickness. Shaving doesn't make the beard thicker. Age does it.

"A shave will last longer if you whack your whiskers off after breakfast. Before breakfast your face is still puffy from sleep.

"Blue collar workers today shave just as often as white collar workers, but they often shave at night rather than in the morning.

"The thickness of a man's beard is no index of his virility." Miss Schoen says that Alexander the Great was probably the first military leader to order his troops to shave as a military measure.

"He did it so the enemy couldn't grab his men by their beards in close combat," she explained.

Public Debt Is Ball and Chain

Nobody can ever actually see the ball and chain of $280,000,000,000 that we call our public debt. But then there are so many realities in life that we do not see, or feel, or touch, or smell. The public debt is an imperceptible that affects the value of our currency, the stability of government, the credit of government. And as we are all part of the government, it affects us all.

One of the things one learns in a hospital is that there is literally no use for crying over spilled milk. It is like trying to find out why a heart muscle has rusted away. You can get a thousand different explanations and one will make you more unhappy than the other. The fact is that it happened and you lie about waiting for it to heal, if it can.

The same thing is true of all the battles we conservatives lost during the past 20 years or more. They are lost. Already a new world has come into existence, not a better world nor a more satisfactory world but a different one. The emphasis on values is different. For instance, when I was a young man at college, the goal was great achievement—possibly great money achievement, to be somebody like Andrew Carnegie or John D. Rockefeller, or to head some corporation or institution. Today, a young man's goal is security—he wants to be sure that he will not be without a pay envelope. Even the modest among us planned to write books or plays that would have put them on easy street; today, the best one can hope for is that the income tax can be spread over a period of years. The fellow whose goal is achievement is a risk-taker; the fellow whose goal is security can become a coward. He has too much to preserve to risk even a little. He conforms to the current pattern.

Maybe he is just as happy. He works 40 hours a week, grows roses in the spring, listens to good music at night and reads paper-covered books on his way to sleep. But his productive outlook is nothing to get excited about. The Russians, who are in the rebuilding stage, are now like we used to be. They offer all kinds of bonuses and incentives as though they were capitalists and nobody thinks of only working 40 hours a week because such limited productivity is practically sabotage. They are pushing as we pushed in the 1890's and the results are showing.

The question with them as with us is, what does the individual get out of it? When taxes and the high cost of living consume so great a share of a man's earnings that he can leave little for his family beyond living up to the Joneses, the incentive is not enough and many fall into the normal attitude of bureaucrats which is to do what one has to do and no more. The job is written up and that is it; to do more is to impinge on somebody else's job. Such people are even disliked personalities, although they are the only kind of human beings who make the wheels of life or industry go round.

And that brings us back to our national debt and a great many mistakes that were made over the past 20 years by a bureaucracy that really governed us for the first time in our history. We accepted their rule because it is more convenient to obey than to be a dissenter. Besides dissenters have bad names; they are not pleasant people. So we as a nation let a flock of bureaucrats take hold of us and govern us. They told us what to do.

Now we need to straighten things out and we cannot, because historic errors, once made, move so rapidly and fix themselves so rigidly that only wars or revolutions can change them. So, we shall have to live in this new world or not live at all.

Big Corporations Tote
Profits, Pay Out High
Sum In Federal Taxes

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam is striking gold these days in the canyons of New York — and it's a much richer vein than almost anyone expected even just a few weeks ago.

In their New York counting houses the nation's big corporations are totting up their gross profits for 1955. In numerous cases the results astound even those who already knew 1955 was a remarkable year.

With the federal income tax rate on corporations rising as high as 52 per cent, the U. S. treasury's share of these gross profits is impressive—and the total grows with each day's batch of corporate earnings reports.

U. S. Steel has just announced it has set aside 366 million dollars to pay Uncle Sam.

The other day Jersey Standard Oil estimated its net income after taxes would be a record 717 million dollars, a gain of 22.5 per cent over its 1954 take. A roughly similar sum will be on hand for the federal tax collector.

General Motors, yet to report, is widely expected to cross the one billion dollar net profit mark—the first such figure ever reported by an American corporation. Its tax contribution to Washington should be close to one billion dollars.

Just these three corporations alone, therefore, will be handing Uncle Sam around two billion dollars in tax money.

That's more than the President's budget allots for spending on atomic energy. It's more than he asks for guided missiles, more than he asks for building dams and developing natural resources.

Big Steel reports its earnings after taxes were a record 370 million dollars. This is by far the largest profit in the steel industry, as is to be expected from a company that does nearly one-third of the business.

But nine other steel companies—two of them among the "top ten"—report a better percentage of gain over 1954.

U. S. Steel's net profits increased 89 per cent over the 1954 figure. But nine others report their profits more than doubled during the year.

The 21 iron and steel companies that have reported their 1955 results so far have a combined net profit of $990,309,426, an increase of 71 per cent over the $579,141,957 the same 21 reported on their 1954 operations.

Their combined federal tax payments can be roughly estimated at $99 million dollars.

Steel will show one of the best increases of any industry: 1. Because it made and sold a record amount of steel last year; 2. Because its 1955 operations are being compared with 1954, a year in which steel was among the industries suffering from a recession.

The good news for the U. S. Treasury doesn't stop with the annual reports that American corporations are now issuing in increasing numbers.

There is every sign that the profitable times are continuing in the early months of 1956.

Roger M. Blough, U. S. Steel chairman, thinks the current quarter may be the best three months the steel industry has ever had. Although he expects the present pace to slacken later in the year, Blough thinks 1956 will turn out to be one of the top years for steel.

Other steel leaders have reported their own companies have orders in sight that should keep them humming at least until fall.

The cutback in auto production hasn't made a dent in the total demand for steel yet — a demand that calls for more steel than the industry has present capacity to meet quickly.

Prospects this week that a federal highway aid bill will pass Congress will add more demand for the construction products of the steel industry.

And the higher the sales volume, the greater the tax take usually is.

Red-Made Mines Freed Deliberately

TOKYO (AP)—U. S. Navy officials believe numerous Russian-made mines have been floated deliberately into the Japan Sea, menacing navigation in violation of the Geneva Convention.

A spokesman said 142 mines have been recovered on Japanese beaches or waters since 1952.

Ten have exploded on washing ashore in Japan but there are no known casualties, the Navy said.

Winning War By Pushbutton Labeled 'Dangerous Myth'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Army Wilber Brucker declares "the notion that wars can be fought and won by remote control with machines and pushbuttons is a dangerous myth."

He told the National Press Club: "We have properly decided to develop to the utmost our retaliatory power to deter an enemy from attempting a sudden and overwhelming assault with airborne nuclear weapons."

He also said that "an aggressive enemy who possesses huge ground forces," should be expected to use them.

The mission of the American army is to wage prompt, sustained and successful combat operations on land, seize ground and dominate the enemy and his means of making war, Brucker said, then added:

"There is nothing that has occurred so far which has made the accomplishment of this mission less important than it has been in the past."

Brucker said that the Army strength is being stabilized at about 1,034,500 men. Then, in apparent reply to recent criticisms of Army cutbacks from Gen. Matthew Ridgway, former Army chief of staff, Brucker said:

"We feel that a highly mobile source of 1,034,500 men, equipped as it is with the best weapons, both atomic and non-atomic, which American science can devise and American industry can produce, is sufficiently large under existing circumstances to afford us the proper margin of safety."

"It is absolutely imperative, however, that it be capable of immediate and tremendous expansion in the event of war. A very substantial reserve source organized, trained, and equipped, which can be ready to fight with a minimum of delay, is essential to our security."

Janowicz Slated For Law Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A hearing today was scheduled for Vic Janowicz, pro football star of the Washington Redskins, who was arrested at a party and charged with interfering with officers.

Janowicz, a former Ohio State All-American, has been free on bond since his arrest Sunday with three other persons who were attending the party. Charges against the others ranged from interfering with police officers to assaulting officers.

Police said they went to the home of Sylvester Blake Jr. to investigate a report that someone in Blake's home had broken the window of a pizzeria shop. One officer said he was struck twice with a beer bottle. Janowicz was arrested during the ensuing scuffle.

BOSTON (AP)—Traffic was rerouted for a mile and some 300 post office employees stopped work for more than an hour when a humming sound was detected Sunday in a parcel post sack.

The sack was taken outdoors in a hand truck around which bags of wool were piled.

Detective Earl L. Laird of the police ballistics squad opened the bag and found a harmless battery operated fire alarm apparatus.

Laird said the apparatus apparently short-circuited.

Couple Accused Of Child Neglect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Wallace Dean, 34, and his wife, Rosemary, 26, were being held in city prison

today for investigation of child neglect after their infant son died of what authorities said was pneumonia and exposure.

The parents were taken into custody yesterday after the child, Jerry, four months, died in an unheated home Saturday night. Sgt. James Reise said the Dean home was without coal to start a fire and the father could offer no reason for lack of fuel.

Authorities placed the Deans, other three children, the oldest of which is four, in Franklin County Children's Home for safekeeping.

New Drugs Soothe Patients In Ohio Mental Hospitals

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two new drugs are soothing hundreds of violent patients in Ohio's state mental hospitals, doctors reported today.

Popularly known as tranquilizing drugs, they are reserpine and chlorpromazine.

Recently 22 superintendents of Ohio mental hospitals reported results from the first full year's use of the two new medicines.

In an interview with the Cleveland News' medical writer, Severino P. Severino, Dr. John D. Porterfield, chief of the state's mental hygiene department, was enthusiastic about what the two drugs are accomplishing. Among the benefits, he cited:

1. For the first time in years, more patients are being discharged from Ohio's mental hospitals than are being admitted.

2. Violence in mental hospitals has been virtually eliminated and disturbed patient wards are vanishing.

3. Electric and insulin shock treatments have been cut far below their former level.

Porterfield said he could compile a statistical analysis of the reports from superintendents before April 1. He noted that the drugs still are in the research stage and that their use in the state's program still is limited. His department buys $25,000 worth of drugs each month, and the budget does not permit giving them to more than a small part of the patient population, he said.

Most patients take the drugs by mouth, but some in disturbed condition are given injections by needle.

In Cleveland, about 1,000 patients are on one or the other of the tranquilizing medicines and at Columbus State Hospital 500 of the 2,700 patients are being treated with them.

Dr. Marlin R. Wedemeyer, superintendent at Columbus, said 980 patients were discharged there last year, while 810 were admitted. That trend, he said, holds for other state institutions, although complete statewide figures have not yet been compiled.

Before the tranquilizers were used, Dr. Wedemeyer said, 200 patients a day were given shock therapy and an additional 35 daily had insulin shock. Now, he added, insulin shock has not been used for six months and only 25 patients a day get shock therapy.

The drugs themselves do not remove the ideas which cause homicidal and suicidal tendencies or inspire delusions of persecution, Dr. Wedemeyer pointed out. "The patient simply does not feel the compulsion to do something about those ideas," he explained.

Dr. Edward Hinko, director of the state receiving hospital in Cleveland, had this to say:

"We have no such thing as a disturbed ward anymore. Violent patients were a continual problem of behavior and management. Now the problem has vanished except for the first few days when a new patient is admitted."

The number of patients permitted to return home on trial visits has been doubled at Cleveland State Hospital, said the director there, Dr. William L. Gover.

Over the past 50 years the number of persons 65 and older increased almost 500 per cent—from 3.1 million in 1900 to 14.1 million by July, 1955.

The 21 iron and steel companies that have reported their 1955 results so far have a combined net profit of $990,309,426, an increase of 71 per cent over the $579,141,957 the same 21 reported on their 1954 operations.

Their combined federal tax payments can be roughly estimated at $90 million dollars.

Steel will show one of the best increases of any industry: 1. Because it made and sold a record amount of steel last year; 2. Because its 1955 operations are being compared with 1954, a year in which steel was among the industries suffering from a recession.

The good news for the U. S. Treasury doesn't stop with the annual reports that American corporations are now issuing in increasing numbers.

There is every sign that the profitable times are continuing in the early months of 1956.

Roger M. Blough, U. S. Steel chairman, thinks the current quarter may be the best three months the steel industry has ever had. Although he expects the present pace to slacken later in the year, Blough thinks 1956 will turn out to be one of the top years for steel.

Other steel leaders have reported their own companies have orders in sight that should keep them humming at least until fall.

The cutback in auto production hasn't made a dent in the total demand for steel yet — a demand that calls for more steel than the industry has present capacity to meet quickly.

Prospects this week that a federal highway aid bill will pass Congress will add more demand for the construction products of the steel industry.

And the higher the sales volume, the greater the tax take usually is.

Red-Made Mines Freed Deliberately

TOKYO (AP) — U. S. Navy officials believe numerous Russian-made mines have been floated deliberately into the Japan Sea, menacing navigation in violation of the Geneva Convention.

A spokesman said 142 mines have been recovered on Japanese beaches or waters since 1952.

Ten have exploded on washing ashore in Japan but there are no known casualties, the Navy said.

Winning War By Pushbutton Labeled 'Dangerous Myth'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Army Wilber Brucker declares "the notion that wars can be fought and won by remote control with machines and pushbuttons is a dangerous myth."

He told the National Press Club: "We have properly decided to develop to the utmost our retaliatory power to deter an enemy from attempting a sudden and overwhelming assault with airborne nuclear weapons."

He also said that "an aggressive enemy who possesses huge ground forces," should be expected to use them.

The mission of the American army is to wage prompt, sustained and successful combat operations on land, seize ground and dominate the enemy and his means of making war, Brucker said, then added:

"There is nothing that has occurred so far which has made the accomplishment of this mission less important than it has been in the past."

Brucker said that the Army strength is being stabilized at about 1,034,500 men. Then, in apparent reply to recent criticisms of Army cutbacks from Gen. Matthew Ridgway, former Army chief of staff, Brucker said:

"We feel that a highly mobile source of 1,034,500 men, equipped as it is with the best weapons, both atomic and non-atomic, which American science can devise and American industry can produce, is sufficiently large under existing circumstances to afford us the proper margin of safety."

"It is absolutely imperative, however, that it be capable of immediate and tremendous expansion in the event of war. A very substantial reserve source organized, trained, and equipped, which can be ready to fight with a minimum of delay, is essential to our security."

Janowicz Slated For Law Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A hearing today was scheduled for Vic Janowicz, pro football star of the Washington Redskins, who was arrested at a party and charged with interfering with officers.

Janowicz, a former Ohio State All-American, has been free on bond since his arrest Sunday with three other persons who were attending the party. Charges against the others ranged from interfering with police officers to assaulting officers.

Police said they went to the home of Sylvester Blake Jr. to investigate a report that someone in Blake's home had broken the window of a pizzeria shop. One officer said he was struck twice with a beer bottle. Janowicz was arrested during the ensuing scuffle.

Humming Sound Clears Post Office

BOSTON (AP)—Traffic was rerouted for a mile and some 300 post office employees stopped work for more than an hour when a humming sound was detected Sunday in a parcel post sack.

The sack was taken outdoors in a hand truck around which bags of wool were piled.

Detective Earl L. Laird of the police ballistics squad opened the bag and found a harmless battery operated fire alarm apparatus.

Laird said the apparatus apparently short-circuited.

Couple Accused Of Child Neglect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Wallace Dean, 34 and his wife, Rosemary, 26, were being held in city prison

today for investigation of child neglect after their infant son died of what authorities said was pneumonia and exposure.

The parents were taken into custody yesterday after the child, Jerry, four months, died in an unheated home Saturday night. Sgt. James Reese said the Dean home was without coal to start a fire and the father could offer no reason for lack of fuel.

Authorities placed the Deans other three children, the oldest of which is four, in Franklin County Children's Home for safekeeping.

New Drugs Soothe Patients In Ohio Mental Hospitals

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two new drugs are soothing hundreds of violent patients in Ohio's state mental hospitals, doctors reported today.

Popularly known as tranquilizing drugs, they are reserpine and chlorpromazine.

Recently 22 superintendents of Ohio mental hospitals reported results from the first full year's use of the two new medicines.

In an interview with the Cleveland News' medical writer, Severino P. Severino, Dr. John D. Porterfield, chief of the state's mental hygiene department, was enthusiastic about what the twin drugs are accomplishing. Among the benefits, he cited:

1. For the first time in years, more patients are being discharged from Ohio's mental hospitals than are being admitted.

2. Violence in mental hospitals has been virtually eliminated and disturbed patient wards are vanishing.

3. Electric and insulin shock treatments have been cut far below their former level.

Porterfield said he could compile a statistical analysis of the reports from superintendents before April 1. He noted that the drugs still are in the research stage and that their use in the state's program still is limited. His department buys $25,000 worth of drugs each month, and the budget does not permit giving them to more than a small part of the patient population, he said.

Most patients take the drugs by mouth, but some in disturbed condition are given injections by needle.

In Cleveland, about 1,000 patients are on one or the other of the tranquilizing medicines and at Columbus State Hospital 500 of the 2,700 patients are being treated with them.

Dr. Marlin R. Wedemeyer, superintendent at Columbus, said 980 patients were discharged there last year, while 810 were admitted. That trend, he said, holds for other state institutions, although complete statewide figures have not yet been compiled.

Before the tranquilizers were used, Dr. Wedemeyer said, 200 patients a day were given shock therapy and an additional 35 daily had insulin shock. Now, he added, insulin shock has not been used for six months and only 25 patients a day get shock therapy.

The drugs themselves do not remove the ideas which cause homicidal and suicidal tendencies or inspire delusions of persecution, Dr. Wedemeyer pointed out. "The patient simply does not feel the compulsion to do something about those ideas," he explained.

Dr. Edward Hinko, director of the state receiving hospital in Cleveland, had this to say:

"We have no such thing as a disturbed ward anymore. Violent patients were a continual problem of behavior and management. Now the problem has vanished except for the first few days when a new patient is admitted."

The number of patients permitted to return home on trial visits has been doubled at Cleveland State Hospital, said the director there, Dr. William L. Gover.

Over the past 50 years the number of persons 65 and older increased almost 500 per cent—from 3.1 million in 1900 to 14.1 million by July, 1955.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEREETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). # Jeffersonville Wins County League Title

Good Hope Trowned in Final Game

With an overflow crowd shouting and watching in the Jeffersonville High School gym, the Jeff Tigers won the Fayette County League championship over Good Hope Saturday night in a lopsided 72 to 36 victory.

The Tigers took the title as the season came to a topsy-turvy close with one of the four teams suspended before the champions met in the final game.

The Tigers were slated for a game with the Madison Mills Warriors Feb. 10 but they won't get to play because the Warriors were banished by the Ohio High School Athletic Association Saturday for the season for walking off the floor in their game with Bloomingburg's Bulldogs on Jan. 30.

By a strange quirk of Fate, it was the Warriors who had handed Good Hope's Mad Anthonys their only previous defeat.

Coach Bob Hildreth's boys played a swift, driving brand of basketball that swept over the Mad Anthonys in the first quarter. The Tigers spent the next three quarters mopping up.

John Wright led the cage attack for the Tigers, swooshing through 20 points on nine field goals and two foul shots.

Ronnie Linton, starting Good Hope center, was out of play Saturday night with a leg injury received in a game Tuesday with Fairfield. Also on the Good Hope bench and unable to play was Bill Herman, who hurt his ankle in the first game of the season and has been able to play in only about eight games this season.

FRIDAY night, Good Hope was toppled from its undefeated position in league play by the bottom-place, underdog Madison Mills squad in a 66-60 upset.

The defeat by Jeff and Madison Mills gives the Good Hope squad a record of four wins and two losses for the year.

Jeffersonville, with a record of four wins and one loss counting the Saturday night game, was to have played Madison Mills Feb. 10 to finish up the league and season schedule.

But the association ruling against Madison Mills, over the signature of association head H. W. Emswiler, puts the finisher on county league play for the 1955-56 season.

In the reserve game the Jeffersonville boys beat the Good Hope reservists, 35 to 29. Players for Good Hope points scored were: Kimball 13, Overly 11, Butcher 4, Boncutter 1, VanDyke, Smith.

Jeff reserve boys playing and the points scored were: Hanners 14, C. Jordan 5, Weaver 4, D. Davis 4, M. Arnold 3, Burson 3, R. R. Evans 2, Evans, G. Arnold, R. Jordan, Cook, J. Davis.

WHS Lions Down Beaver Creek, 70-52, In Hard-Fought Game

The WHS Lions Saturday night extended their streak to eight wins in a row as they bowled over Beaver Creek, 70-52, on the WHS court.

The Lions played hot-and-cold basketball through the first three periods before they finally took a decisive lead in the fourth quarter.

Early in the game they piled up a 7-point margin over Beaver Creek, only to have the visitors strike back to take a 14-12 lead at the end of the first period.

Again in the second period, the Lions held a 10-point edge, only to have it melt away again. It wasn't until the final period that the Lions sewed up their win.

Beaver Creek fielded one of the hottest fast-break offenses WHS has come up against this year and it took the Lions a while to settle down to an effective defense.

The Lions won the game in the classic fashion—they shot offener than their opponents.

Both team had exactly the same record from the free throw ring: 16 points in 21 shots for a 76 percent average. But the Lions racked up 27 buckets from the floor to Beaver Creek's 18. WHS recorded a 35 percent average from the floor.

Rangy David Lee showed the way for the Lion sharpshooters as he sank eight field goals and seven free throws for a 23-point total. John Sommers caught fire too, to rack up 18 points and Fred Belles contributed 17 more.

THE BEAVER Creek reserves won, 45-33. Floyd Southward was high man for the losers with 14 points. Other WHS players: J. Mason (9), D. Miller (4), Milstead (2), Garrison (2), Johnson (2), Dodds, Burris, Welch, Rider, Boyer and Wilson.

Undefeated since their 82-44 loss to Canton Timken last Dec. 17, the Lions have been booming along in great shape ever since.

Four of their eight wins have been in league games, putting WHS right on the heels of the SCO League pace-setter, Wilmington.

Payoff in the league race will come in the Lions' next game—a contest against Wilmington on the court here on Feb. 14.

"We think we can beat them on our home court," predicted Coach Herb Russell.

If the Lions do win, they will have all but sewed up the SCO League championship. The game will be the last league contest for Wilmington and will leave the Lions with only a single league game against Greenfield.

Greenfield has won only one league game in six starts this season.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff won the $15,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament and he thought a 10-foot putt he sank for a birdie on the first hole of the final round was the key shot.

Cage Schedules Nearing Close

WHS Lions Get Rest After Busy Week

Jeffersonville's Tigers, who took the Fayette County basketball championship when they beat the front-running Mad Anthonys from Good Hope Saturday night in the play-off of a postponed game, will play only one more game although there are two more on the schedule.

They are to entertain the boys from Port William Tuesday night and were to have played the Warriors at Madison Mills Friday, but the Warriors were suspended by the Ohio High School Athletic Association on Saturday because their coach, Tolman Mills, took them off of the floor when they were within less than two minutes of the end of the game with Bloomingburg's Bulldogs on Jan. 30. Coach Mills said his action was a protest to officiating which, he claimed, permitted the game to get so rough his players were being injured.

Oddly enough, it was the Warriors who upset the Mad Anthonys to hand them their only league defeat—until they collided with the Tigers. By an even stranger quirk of Fate, the Good Hope boys were beaten by the Warriors on Feb. 2, five days after the game which brought their suspension had been played but one day before the penalty was imposed.

The other teams in the county will wind up their schedules this week. The Bulldogs of Bloomingburg are to go to Lancaster to play the St. Mary's outfit in their last game Friday.

The Mad Anthonys are to close their schedule with a game with the boys from Salt Creek Friday night on the Good Hope floor.

New Holland's Bulldogs completed their schedule Saturday night with a loss at Frankfort by a score of 65-56.

WASHINGTON C. H. High School's Lion cagers, who racked up their eighth win in a row and the third in a week when they beat the Beavers from Beaver Creek (centralize school between Xenia and Dayton) 70 to 52, will get to take a rest until Feb. 14 when they tangle with Wilmington's Hurricane in the game that will tell SCO League story.

Right now the Lions and Hurricane are in a head and head race down the stretch.

This will be the last league game for the Hurricane, but the Lions have one more, with the Tigers at Greenfield in the finale on Feb. 24.

The Greenfielders have another SCO game on their schedule—the one with the Tigers at Circleville next Friday.

Two of the four remaining games on the Circleville schedule are league games—with the Greenfield outfit and Hillsboro's Indians on Feb. 17.

The Indians have four games left on their schedule, but the only league tilt is the one at Circleville.

WHS Lions Down Beaver Creek, 70-52, In Hard-Fought Game

The WHS Lions Saturday night extended their streak to eight wins in a row as they bowled over Beaver Creek, 70-52, on the WHS court.

The Lions played hot-and-cold basketball through the first three periods before they finally took a decisive lead in the fourth quarter.

Early in the game they piled up a 7-point margin over Beaver Creek, only to have the visitors strike back to take a 14-12 lead at the end of the first period.

Again in the second period, the Lions held a 10-point edge, only to have it melt away again. It wasn't until the final period that the Lions sewed up their win.

Beaver Creek fielded one of the hottest fast-break offenses WHS has come up against this year and it took the Lions a while to settle down to an effective defense.

The Lions won the game in the classic fashion—they shot oftener than their opponents.

Both team had exactly the same

Maximum Pay Idea Hinted In Majors

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league baseball club owners, harassed by player efforts to raise the minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,200, may retaliate by attempting to place a maximum on the amount of money a player can receive.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said "definitely not" when asked whether the club owners were considering maximum salaries, if forced to raise the minimum, and club owners declined to comment. But a high official (not a club owner) said "maximum" was the key word in the statement issued after a joint meeting of the American and National leagues Saturday.

The leagues reaffirmed the decision of last December in keeping the minimum salary at $6,000. But they approved the appointment of two three-man committees from each league to meet with the 16 player representatives "to review the present league salary structure and ascertain whether the present minimum and unlimited maximum standards are equitable."

"Very definitely the owners had maximum salaries in mind when they made that statement," said the official, who asked that his name not be used. "It is only natural that if the owners are forced to raise the minimum that they'll look to save money by cutting down on the maximums. That's business."

The National League committee consists of John Galbreath of Pittsburgh, Dick Meyer of St. Louis and Joe Cairnes of Milwaukee. The American League group includes Tom Yawkey of Boston, Spike Briggs of Detroit and Hank Greenberg of Cleveland.

Dartmouth's first football score was made by C. W. Oakes, grandfather of Abner Oakes III, Dartmouth's current hockey captain. C. W. Oakes made his tally in 1881 against Amherst.

Mike Allen Due To Sign At Dayton

COLUMBUS (AP)—Mike Allen, one of the most-publicized Class "B" high school players in Ohio history, was expected to apply for admission to the University of Dayton today.

Allen, a reserve center on the Ohio State University team until he failed to report for practice last Thursday, said Saturday night that he had withdrawn from OSU. His mother said he would resume school at Dayton today, "if the school will have him."

Statements by the Allens followed the accusation Friday night by Buckeye Coach Floyd Stahl that Tom Blackburn, coach of the Dayton Flyers, was "tampering" with the 6 foot 8 Allen, and another Ohio State sophomore, John Snyder.

Blackburn denied all charges of tampering but confirmed that the boys had come to see him during Flyer practice Thursday.

Snyder played in Ohio State's game against Indiana Saturday, and Stahl said the Defiance youth would stay in school.

Blackburn said that previous to Thursday afternoon he had not seen Allen since the player was graduated from New Lexington St. Aloysius High School in 1954.

If Allen should transfer, he would be ineligible for athletics, under the transfer rule, until the 1957-58 season.

Dr. Middlecoff Pockets Purse

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff won the $15,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament and he thought a 10-foot putt he sank for a birdie on the first hole of the final round was the key shot.

The 35-year-old veteran might have added another stroke — the one from the tee that young Jim Blair III of Missouri put into a pond on the 15th. That broke a dead-even battle and cost the amateur sensation of the event a chance for victory.

Middlecoff went on to shoot a 68 for a 72-hole score of 276, eight under par. He won $2,400.

Cage Schedules Nearing Close

WHS Lions Get Rest After Busy Week

Jeffersonville's Tigers, who took the Fayette County basketball championship when they beat the front-running Mad Anthony's from Good Hope Saturday night in the play-off of a postponed game, will play only one more game although there are two more on the schedule.

They are to entertain the boys from Port William Tuesday night and were to have played the Warriors at Madison Mills Friday, but the Warriors were suspended by the Ohio High School Athletic Association on Saturday because their coach, Tolman Mills, took them off of the floor when they were within less than two minutes of the end of the game with Bloomingburg's Bulldogs on Jan. 30. Coach Mills said his action was a protest to officiating which, he claimed, permitted the game to get so rough his players were being injured.

Oddly enough, it was the Warriors who upset the Mad Anthony's to hand them their only league defeat—until they collided with the Tigers. By an even stranger quirk of Fate, the Good Hope boys were beaten by the Warriors on Feb. 5, five days after the game which brought their suspension had been played but one day before the penalty was imposed.

The other teams in the county will wind up their schedules this week. The Bulldogs of Bloomingburg are to go to Lancaster to play the St. Mary's outfit in their last game Friday.

The Mad Anthony's are to close their schedule with a game with the boys from Salt Creek Friday night on the Good Hope floor. New Holland's Bulldogs completed their schedule Saturday night with a loss at Frankfort by a score of 65-56.

WASHINGTON C. H. High School's Lion cagers, who racked up their eighth win in a row and the third in a week when they beat the Beavers from Beaver Creek (centralize school between Xenia and Dayton) 70 to 52, will get to take a rest until Feb. 14 when they tangle with Wilmington's Hurricane in the game that will tell SCO League story.

Right now the Lions and Hurricane are in a head and head race down the stretch.

This will be the last league game for the Hurricane, but the Lions have one more, with the Tigers at Greenfield in the finale on Feb. 24.

The Greenfielders have another SCO game on their schedule—the one with the Tigers at Circleville next Friday.

Two of the four remaining games on the Circleville schedule are league games—with the Greenfield outfit and Hillsboro's Indians on Feb. 17.

The Indians have four games left on their schedule, but the only league tilt is the one at Circleville.

County Teams To Meet Again

Tournament Will Be Set Up On Monday

Fayette County basketball teams, for the 1955-56 season in league play after a topsy-turvy ending, will have an opportunity for rematching soon when the county tournament gets under way.

The Jeffersonville, Good Hope and Bloomingburg squads will have a chance to match their end-of-season ball clubs in the annual tourney that is to be revamped at a meeting Monday afternoon of high school principals and coaches.

The officials of the three schools will be meeting with G. H. Bidle, tournament manager this year, to re-arrange a tentative setup made before Madison Mills High School was barred from athletics for the rest of his year by the Ohio High School Athletic Association.

THE MADISON Mills boys were barred from sports participation as the result of protest action of the school's basketball coach, Tolman Mills.

Mills pulled his squad off the floor Jan. 30 with one minute and 20 seconds of playing time left in a game with Bloomingburg. Bloomingburg was ahead, 99, 54.

Mills said his action was a protest against game officiating. He said he yanked his team to "protect my boys."

Which places three rather than four teams in the tournament here.

The winning team in the tournament will go to a southeastern district tournament. The district winner will have regional competition and the winner there will wind up in state competition.

The county tournament will be played here on the Washington C. H. High School court.

Principals of county high schools rotate as manager of the tournament.

Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler has lost only 14 bouts in 159 matches. Twice he was held to a draw.

Syracuse will play five home football games next fall — West Virginia, Army, Penn State, Holy Cross and Colgate.

Ohio High School Coaches Mumble About Restrictions

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—There's more than a modicum of mumbling, on the part of Ohio's coaches, over recent restrictions placed on high school sports.

In a statewide referendum, principles outlawed spring grid practices and football camps, clamped a 19-year eligibility limit on the athletes, set starting dates for the basketball season, and for the first time put a brake on cage practices.

The mentors, although they cannot override the decisions of the principals, are going to discuss the restrictions, pro and con, next Friday morning at Toledo.

Gene Colema, Wooster High grid coach, will be chairman of a group

Servicemen Get Break on Taxes

Many Items Listed
As Tax-Free Money

Servicemen get a break when it comes time to pay out income tax, according to Russel A. Welch, district director of the Internal Revenue Service for the Cincinnati District.

Items such as subsistence and rental allowance, the government's part of the family allowance, state bonus, mustering out pay, uniform allowance, gratuity pay and national service life insurance dividends are not taxable and should not be included in the return.

Lump sum payments received by Air Corps Reserve officers in termination of service under Act of June 16, 1936, are not considered mustering out pay and are therefore taxable.

Compensation for services, longevity pay and reenlistment bonus are taxable and are usually included in the amount shown on the Form W-2, Welch explained.

ITEMS NOT deductible include auto upkeep, damage to household equipment in moving, depreciation on uniforms, expense of visiting home, uniforms or alterations and war insurance premiums.

The card form 1040A is available for the person whose total wages are less than $5,000 and who did not have over $100 of other income. Form 1040 will meet the needs of those who do not use Form 1040A.

"In completing the form," Welch said, "you should add your service serial number after your name. The instruction booklet issued with the return will answer a lot of your questions."

An additional source of information, the booklet "Your Federal Income Tax, 1955" may be obtained by writing the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington D. C., or at offices of the Department of Commerce.

Streams Flowing Strong In County

As result of recent rains and warmer weather melting most of the heavy snow which had covered the ground for two weeks or more, streams in Fayette County were running bank full over the weekend, and in some places had overflowed into the lowlands adjacent.

The mild weather the past two or three days, accompanied by 27 of an inch of rain over Sunday, caused a quick run-off, inasmuch as the ground is frozen to a depth of several inches.

As soon as the water in Paint Creek clears, the work of filling the reservoir will be resumed, and continued until it is full.

At the present time the reservoir contains approximately 150,000 gallons of water. Capacity is 200,000 gallons.

Four From County Hear About Cancer Research

Four persons from Fayette County were among more than 500 representatives from wide spread points in the United States, Alaska and even Nassau in the Bahaman Islands attending the 1956 national campaign meeting of the American Cancer Society, held in Cincinnati this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Perrill and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Reed were the Washington C. H. residents attending the meeting. Mrs. Perrill is Fayette County campaign chairman for the ACS and drive here. Mrs. Reed is executive secretary of the association's Fayette County unit.

The representatives from here reported that the latest research developments in the battle against cancer were outlined at the meeting.

The medical men who are conducting research projects outlined their progress in a morning session.

Ed Sullivan, national campaign manager, columnist and TV personality, conducted the afternoon session. Six persons cured of cancer were introduced at that session.

The cancer society announced a grant of $34,824 for clinical research. The grant was made to Charlotte, N. C. Memorial Hospital to support a program which, ACS spokesmen said, may prove that death from uterine cancer can now be almost completely prevented.

A METHOD of detecting early cancer before it is visible to the naked eye and before it can produce the danger signals of cancer was explained at the ACS meeting by Dr. James W. Reagan, professor of pathology at Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

Dr. Reagan said that "diagnostic cytology"—the study of body cells and cell structure—has taken its place among recognized techniques in studying cancer.

"As a detection method," he said, the procedure "has been successfully applied" in studying secretions from various parts of the body to detect signs of or the presence of cancer.

"Although there are many limitations to the method," he said, "when correctly applied it has considerable value."

At present, he said, many doctors in clinics use studies of the cells in body secretions as standard procedure in some examinations.

WHERE YOU LIVE, your race or religion, occupation, habits, income and marital status may have something to do with how susceptible you are to cancer, according to Dr. Ernest L. Wynder, of the Memorial Center of Cancer and Allied Diseases, New York City.

Studies show that different types of cancer are common — or uncommon — among people in different parts of the world.

Stomach cancer is common in Japan and Iceland, for example, low in Indonesia. The Bantus in Africa have a high rate of liver cancer while Americans have little of this particular type.

There is a higher rate of breast cancer among single women, while women who have not had children have a greater chance to develop this particular type.

It was announced at the meeting that eighteen studies by a variety of investigators indicate smoking is a cause of lung and throat cancer, Dr. Wynder said.

Absence of smoking would save about 15,000 American male lives per year, he said.

RADIOISOTOPES — little particles of radioactive material — are new tools of cancer research which are proving valuable, reported Dr. Benedict J. Duffy, Jr., director of the isotope laboratory at Georgetown University Medical Center in Washington D. C.

"Radioisotopes allow cancer research to go inside the cell," he said. "The cell is literally 'caught in the act'."

Brain tumors, he continued, have been treated by unique atomic attack. Non-radioactive boron has been injected into patients with advanced brain cancer. The boron localizes temporarily in the brain tumor.

The patient is then exposed to a beam of atom splitting agents from a nuclear reactor.

The neutrons hit the boron atoms and split them, creating a miniature atomic explosion as the boron particles are divided into two particles and energy released.

This energy is localized and shortened so the normal brain tissue is spared.

These miniature atom bombs set off in the brains of hopelessly ill patients with brain cancer have prolonged their lives, relieved suffering and given evidence of the possibilities of atomic research in cancer.

Dr. John B. Graham of the Harvard Medical School and Dr. Ruth M. Graham, director of the Vincent Cytology Laboratory, Boston, reported that evidence suggests a person has some defense against cancer.

These defenses are typified by the large phagocytes (cells that eat other cells) that are found in some instances of cancer.

If many such cells are present, the patient can be cured with radium and X-ray. If few are present, cure is much more difficult.

THE CONNECTION between hormones and cancer was discussed by Dr. Albert Segaloff of the Ochsner Medical Foundation in New Orleans.

He emphasized the use of changes in balance between hormones as a tool in the treatment of cancer. A prediction that voluntary giving in the U. S. will reach $14 billion by 1975 was made by Harold J. Seymour a New York business consultant.

Looking for continuous growth in the national economy, he said that gift funds would spiral upward from its $6 billion high in 1955. His estimates were based on reports by economists. He said the national income could be expected to reach $581 billion in 1975, against $321 billion in 1955.

The American Cancer Society should not be classified with what social workers call "all-time agencies," he said, but should be grouped with agencies which are "in a big hurry." This year the ACS seeks $26 million to carry on and expand its programs of research, education and service to cancer patients.

Treasury Expert Dies At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Randolph E. Paul, a high-ranking Treasury official under Franklin D. Roosevelt, collapsed and died today at a Capitol hearing.

Dr. James L. Keating, a Capitol Hill physician, pronounced Paul dead 20 minutes later.

The 65-year-old Paul slumped forward, his head hitting the table before him, while he was being questioned by Rep. Mills (D-Ark.), a member of the Senate-House Committee on Economics.

Paul, former general counsel of the Treasury, had just finished reading a 31-page statement.

Pro Grid Star To Speak Here

Program Is Planned
At St. Colman's Hall

Football fans hereabouts will have an opportunity to hear the inside story of big time college and professional football when Fred (Curly) Morrison comes here Wednesday evening to be the guest of the Holy Name Society of St. Colman's Catholic Church.

Morrison, a Columbus boy, started his gridiron career with Ohio State University's Bucks and is now one of the main cogs in the championship machinery of the Cleveland Browns.

Morrison is to headline a program in St. Colman's Hall Wednesday evening, starting at 8 o'clock.

The Holy Name Society, which is sponsoring the program, is to have a short meeting in charge of the president, Gordon Davis, before the program. It is to be called to order at 7:15 P. M.

MORRISON, an outstanding full-back with the Browns, started in the professional sport with the Chicago Bears and then went to the Browns, where last season he was shifted to fullback and became an offensive star with the pro champs.

He will relate some of the highlights of his experiences to the fans in the friendly and informal atmosphere of St. Colman's Hall. The program is open to the public. There is no charge. The entrance to the hall is from the North Street side of St. Colman's Church.

Morrison is to be introduced by Father Richard J. Connelly, pastor of the parish, who has been the chaplain of the Browns for the past 10 years. He said "all interested in the Cleveland Browns and football are invited to come."

A social hour is to follow the program.

Health For All

THE RIGHT TO WORK
If you were asked to list the various "rights" which are most important to you, undoubtedly you would include the "right to work." Many of us know the terrible fear and insecurity that come when we lose our jobs or when we are unable to find work. And few moments in life give as much satisfaction and pride as the moment when we can announce that we have a job, whether it is our first job after leaving school, or a new job ending a period of uncertainty.

We all know that loss of a job through illness gives the sick person tremendous financial worry, worry which often hinders his recovery. The longer the period of illness, the greater the worry, for bills pile up and savings dwindle. Tuberculosis is a particularly severe economic disaster for the victim, for it often means long treatment, and it may require curtailed activity or even a new kind of job after the patient is able to go back to work.

Surely, a man who has recovered from TB has the "right to work," certainly he does not want to remain a burden on his family and on the community any longer than necessary. But he often faces an extra handicap—a large measure of public misinformation about tuberculosis. A former patient who has his doctor's approval to return to work is not a danger to his co-workers. Doctors do not approve a return to work when the disease is in a contagious stage. If there is someone where you work who has had tuberculosis and who has gone to work with medical approval, you have nothing to fear. On the contrary, you have much to admire—courage and determination to regain a place in the world after a tragic misfortune.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by The Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Filter Center Tour Planned

County CD Workers
To See GOC Center

Members of the Fayette County Civil Defense organization next week will have a chance to tour the nerve center of the ground observer program.

Workers in the Ground Observer Corps and all other Civil Defense groups will be taken to the Columbus filter center next Monday to see the complex installation.

The filter center is where all ground observers' reports are entered on a master map showing the movements of all aircraft in the area.

If unidentified aircraft are spotted at any of the far-flung observation posts, the filter center checks until the planes are identified or sends word to the intercept command, from which fighter planes can be dispatched.

The members of the county's CD organization are all invited to tour the center, announced Robert McAllister, deputy commander.

Some 35 members have already indicated that they may go, he said. The group will be taken to Columbus in a special bus from Lockbourne Air Force Base. The bus will leave GAR Hall on Court Street at 6:30 P. M. Monday.
